

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Mr. J. M. Welch, the private secretary of the Governor, was announced with the annual message, which was read at the Clerk's desk, as follows :

Fellow-Citizens of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

The condition of the State in regard to public health affords cause of congratulation. All apprehensions of the insalubrity of our climate are, by happy experience, removed. General and almost universal health has prevailed for a long period and affords the satisfactory assurance that the mild climate of Michigan is not only congenial to the health of man, but highly promotive of that most desirable blessing. The diseases incident and peculiar to our climate, are limited in number and easily subjected to proper medical treatment. New-England, with its hills and mountains, its streams and its rivers, and which so many of our citizens are proud to acknowledge their mother-land, affords scarcely a more salubrious clime than it is our happy lot to enjoy.

Peace reigns within our borders. Our country maintains amicable relations with all civilized powers of the earth, and no lowering prospect threatens to disturb our quiet. We are also happily exempt from all domestic violence.

Other blessings attend us to crown our joys with gladness. The labor of the husbandman, during the past year, has been crowned with abundant success. Rich harvests have amply repaid his toil. Abundance is every where to be found in the land, and at every step we meet the most satisfactory proofs of permanent prosperity. The wild forests are fast giving place to cultivated fields, and our citizens every where find an ample reward in the produce of their industry.

Of these and similar blessings we should never be unmindful, and for their enjoyment we should, humbly and with contrite hearts, render thanks to the great Ruler of the Universe, to whom alone we are indebted for every good and perfect gift.

The constitutional provision, which requires the representatives of the people to assemble at least once in each year, is designed to secure a more strict accountability in those to whom the execution of the laws has, for the time, been entrusted. Offices are created for public good alone, and their incumbents are at all times answerable for the manner in which they have discharged trusts confided to their care. Among the duties, devolving on you, not the least important will be that of enquiring into the present condition of public affairs, and of learning the manner in which they have been administered during the year now brought to a close. The strictest scrutiny is invited and every necessary aid will be afforded to enable you to prosecute your enquires with success. No fame should screen, no reputation should exculpate, and no dignity should shield a faithless or defaulting public officer who has wilfully, or through negligence, betrayed public interests entrusted to his keeping.

The promotion of science and literature deserves your fostering care, and I doubt not will receive from you the attention its importance demands. The happiness of all political communities, in an eminent degree, depends upon the intelligence of their inhabitants. Where ignorance prevails, vice and misery predominate. In a free government, if rulers be abandoned and profligate, it is because vice reigns among the people ; for no vicious man could obtain promotion except from men vicious like himself.

Universal education is the only sure basis on which republican institutions can permanently exist. If we recur to history, whether of ancient or modern times, the examples we there find confirm this important truth. An ignorant, a degraded, and an immoral people would be neither prosperous nor happy under a free constitution. Their ignorance would prevent them from understanding and appreciating their rights, and their degradation and immorality would make them fit tools for demagogues more wicked than themselves.

The condition of every nation, whatsoever may be the form of its government, is to a great extent ameliorated and made happy in proportion to the degree of useful information possessed by the mass of its inhabitants. The people who are enlightened and who know their natural rights, will not submit as serfs and slaves to serve imperious lords ; and among such a people the irresponsible and arbitrary will of rulers must give place to permanent and equitable laws. As a nation becomes enlightened correspondent progress is sure to be made in the improvement of its government ; and revolution will secure what rulers refuse to concede.

Under our free institutions the government is the will of the people and knowledge should be the birth-right of every citizen. Education should not be restricted to a few, or to a favored class—the mass of the people produce the wealth and constitute the strength of the body politic, and to them should instruction in all useful branches of knowledge be extended. But for the general intelligence that exists, the order and harmony of society, which we now so much admire, would soon give place to chaos and confusion.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Among the subjects that are likely to engage your attention during your present session, that of common schools is perhaps, second to no other in importance. These primary institutions constitute the only sure medium by which the education of all can be secured. The enactments on the subject, above all other laws, should be certain, definite, and easy to be understood. Such however, is not their condition, and an entire revision is required. It will be entirely within your province to determine how far alterations may be made with public advantage. An examination into the school systems of other and older states may afford information that will enable you better and in a more satisfactory manner, to discharge your duty in perfecting our own. Without assuming to dictate in regard to the details necessary to give efficiency to the system you may adopt, I may be permitted to suggest that provision should be made for the establishment of school libraries as numerous and extensive as the means devoted to that purpose will permit.

The amount received into the treasury during the last fiscal year, to the credit of the common school interest fund, was $28,399 06. About eight thousand dollars of this sum not having been received in time for distribution, yet remains in the treasury. This revenue is the interest accruing from the proceeds of the sale of the sixteenth section in every township as designated by the original surveys of public lands. In a few instances small portions of the school lands have been leased; but the general policy has been to make disposition by sale. The moneys received on sales has been loaned and the interest thereon, together with the interest on sums yet remaining due and secured upon the land is devoted exclusively to the support of common schools. As a large portion of the lands yet remain unsold, and as a part of the money already received, it is feared, has been loaned upon insufficient security and losses from other causes are apprehended, it is at this time impossible to estimate the value of the fund, or to make probable calculation of the amount of revenue to be derived from it. The whole amount of principal now drawing interest is $474,600.

The amount received during the last year to the credit of the university interest fund was $9,035 40. Seventy-two sections of land were relinquished by Congress for the support of a University in Michigan, and the fund in question is the interest on the proceeds of their sale, and devoted to the payment of teachers in the University and its branches and to defray expenses incurred for such other objects as the regents deem necessary for the prosperity of the institution.

The causes which prevent an estimate of the value of the school fund, render it impossible to determine the value of the university fund. The minimum price, at present fixed upon the lands, is twelve dollars per acre ; but it is believed that a large portion cannot be sold at that rate for many years yet to come. A reduction of price, however, is not deemed advisable at present. About one quarter of the lands has been sold, and the amount now at interest is $132,576.

This fund is embarrassed by anticipation of its revenue. A loan of $100,000 has been made on its account, for the payment of which and the accruing interest the fund is pledged; and this is calculated greatly to impair the present usefulness of the institution. The money has been expended and, except the buildings at Ann Arbor and the library and the apparatus they contain, little or nothing remains to show the usefulness or beneficial results of its expenditure. The interest due on account of the loan has been paid to the first day of July last; but for the amount that has accrued since, no provision has been made. As, from every consideration of justice, this interest should be paid with the least possible delay after it becomes due, I respectfully recommend that the State Treasurer be authorized to retain each year a sufficient sum from the University interest fund and apply it to that purpose. The remainder, when received, should, of course, be subjected to the control and disposition of the Regents for the beneficial purposes of the institution.

During the last collegiate year, branches of the University have been in operation at White Pigeon, Kalamazoo, Tecumseh, Detroit and Ann Arbor; at all of which places, except the latter, teachers have been employed by the Board of Regents, at an annual salary of five hundred dollars and the tuition fees. The primary department, or branch at Ann Arbor, has been under the charge of the professors in the University, who have been allowed, as perquisites, the fees received for tuition. For the year commencing in September last, appropriations have been made by the Regents of only two hundred dollars each to the branches at Tecumseh, White Pigeon and Kalamazoo. The branch at Ann Arbor is continued on the same conditions as heretofore, and that in Detroit without any assistance from the Board.

The main institution was opened on the 25th of September, 1841, and now contains about thirty students. Four professors have been appointed, of whom two only are yet under pay. The sum of $600 per annum and the occupancy free of rent of one of the houses built for that purpose are allowed to each of the professors, besides an equal share of the fees for tuition received from the primary department. The facilities and inducements for study at the University of Michigan, are not excelled by those of any other similar institution of so recent establishment, and, in some of the sciences, particularly that of natural history, greater advantages are afforded than elsewhere can be had in the United States.

It is believed that the condition, both of the common school fund, and the university fund, might be improved and their productiveness increased by committing their care to some officer other than the Superintendent of Public Instruction. In the management of those funds, order of talent and qualifications are required, differing so essentially from the acquirements necessary to direct public instruction, that it is matter of surprise that duties so opposite in their character, should have been imposed on one and the same individual. The office of Superintendent of Public Instruction is created by the constitution, and, if the obvious meaning of that instrument be carried into effect, its incumbent should be required exclusively to devote his attention to the superintendence of public education; while duties, wholly fiscal in their character, should be assigned to other officers to be designated by law.

The interests of the State are not sufficiently protected by existing enactments in relation to the fiscal duties of the Superintendent. No officer should be permitted to receive or disburse the public money but under such restrictions as will ensure the immediate discovery of any default; and, as a necessary check, the amount received or disbursed, with the proper vouchers, should be kept in some other department of government. Yet the Superintendent makes important sales, and, from time to time, receives large sums of money, as well of principal as of interest, while no documents exist, accessible to other State officers, by which the true condition of his accounts can be ascertained. Years and years may elapse before even his successor can learn his defaults; for a failure to make the necessary entries and acknowledgment of receipt of moneys, in the books of his office, can only be known from the vouchers of their payment, issued to individuals and by them held in private.

During the last year and a half $4,520 67 has been received into the treasury on account of the university principal fund, and the further sum of $29,665 16 has in like manner been received to the credit of common school principal fund, all of which amounting to $34,185 83 remains on hand. This sum was received in treasury notes or scrip, and, as no provision of law exists which authorizes that species of indebtedness to be re-issued, except for claims against the general fund, it could not, hitherto, be made available for the purposes of education. To save the university and school fund from loss, the amount, so due to each, should be considered a loan to the State, and the lawful interest, accrued and accruing thereon, should be paid from the treasury until the principal can be returned.

The legislature, at its last session, not knowing how many reprerepresentatives to the National Congress Michigan would be entitled to send under the apportionment, then about to be made, provided by law for their election by general ticket; and it was made the duty of the executive, by proclamation, to make known to the electors the number when the same should be ascertained. Instead, however, of making the apportionment of members and, as had been customary since the adoption of the federal constitution, leaving the States to provide for their election in such manner as they deemed expedient, Congress arbitrarily exercised in this case a power which if not unconstitutional, is at least under the circumstances, doubtful in its character. The law at present required of the States the number of their representatives, required their election in single districts.

The first clause of the fourth section of the constitution of the United States, provides that "the times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations except as to the places of choosing senators." This provision so far as it confers any power on Congress, was inserted in the constitution to ensure the perpetuation of that body by enabling it to provide for the election of its own members if the States should neglect or refuse so to do. While, however, it was never expected the power would be exercised but on such neglect or refusal of the States, yet, being one of the conceded powers, the propriety of its exercise is a question of expediency, to be decided by Congress alone.

The constitutionality of the provision, requiring the members of Congress to be elected in single districts, in the present instance seems to depend upon the right of Congress to make or alter the regulations in part only, and its right to require the states to carry its enactments into effect.

On the one hand it is contended that the very terms of the constitution confer upon Congress exclusive jurisdiction of the subject, or no jurisdiction at all—that the history of the convention that formed the constitution and the history of the proceedings of the legislatures of the states which adopted it, confirm the correctness of this construction—that the very object to be effected, the election of members of Congress when the states refused to provide therefor, required, if at all, the exercise of this power in its totality. It is also urged that it is an anomaly in legislation to make enactments without collateral provisions by which to give them effect, and that the act in question is but an isolated dictum, which may or may not be regarded at the option of the states, a requirement that cannot be enforced—and that while the members of the next Congress may exclude from seats those not elected in accordance with its provisions, yet the members thus to be excluded may constitute a majority who would not be likely to exclude themselves.

On the other hand it is affirmed by those who avow its constitutionality and consequently the obligation of the states to regard its requirements, that Congress is expressly authorized to alter regulations adopted by the states, and that to alter appropriately means to vary in some degree without an entire change—that in this view Congress may, at will, make specific changes and that the states, under the constitution, must give effect to the action of that body.

Whatever may be the result of your deliberations upon this subject, I presume you will concur with me that you, the chosen representatives of the people, and you alone, can appropriately determine and decide upon a question of so great concernment to Michigan. Coming as you do directly from the people, chosen as you have been since the question has been raised, I am confident you will make such decision as will accord with public good and the wishes of our common constituents. I doubt not you will also deem the act of Congress sufficiently authoritative to warrant the course of the executive in withholding action on his part, the result of which would have been, to bring in collision the state and federal authorities. The constitutional enactments of Congress are as much binding upon the executive of a state as the laws of the state over which he presides; and, except in cases of manifest and undoubted usurpation by the general government, and in cases which from their nature admit of no delay, the people, the source of all power, should have opportunity, through their representatives, to express their will on subjects that threaten the harmonized action of our complicated yet beautiful system of government. Since the passage of the apportionment act, elections, by general ticket, have been held in the states of Missouri and Georgia; in the former of which, and it is believed in the latter also, under provisions of state laws requiring such elections without proclamation or other intermediate executive action. In Maine, where as in this state, a proclamation was necessary to give effect to the laws requiring the Congressional elections, the governor has withheld such proclamation, and, it is understood, has decided to refer the subject for decision to the representatives of the people of that state.

The reasons of the failure to elect members of Congress at the last general election, having been sufficiently and it is hoped satisfactorily explained, you will see the necessity of making provisions for that purpose during your present session. Under the new act of apportionment, which is herewith transmitted, Michigan is entitled to three representatives, and, while I shall concur with you and give my assent to such a law as you may pass providing for their election, either by general ticket or by districts, yet I cannot but repeat the views expressed in my last annual message, that the latter mode better comports with the true principles of a representative government. The members of the senate represent the states, while the members of the house were designed more particularly to represent the people, and their election by districts seems best adapted to secure that object.

By a joint resolution, passed at the last session of the legislature the law was suspended which authorized the payment of a salary to the reporter of the decisions of the supreme court and of the court of chancery. The incumbent of the office of reporter, has, however, continued to discharge its duties, and has prepared and now has ready for publication, the decisions of the court of chancery made to the present time. Of the decisions of this court, about three hundred pages have been printed, but the remainder cannot be published without legislative aid. All the present justices of the supreme court, have furnished to the reporter their written opinions in cases decided by them previous to the January term of 1842, which, together with the opinions now in the hands of the late chief justice for revision, will make a volume of reports of that court.

It seems to me that the best interest of state requires the decisions of its courts to be published, and that much other printing is now required which is of less importance and less beneficial. Indeed I consider the reports of decisions which give construction to the statutes, as important as the statutes themselves, and as necessary to be distributed among the citizens of the state for their information and guidance. Besides it is confidently believed that if such reports were judiciously prepared under well digested regulations of law, the proceeds from their sale would nearly, if not altogether, reimburse the expense of their publication.

The present judiciary system, will probably engage your attention, and how far it should be altered or modified depends upon you to decide. On the upright administration of this department of government, in a great measure depends the enjoyment of our rights as citizens, and even the permanence of our free institutions. If our rights of person and property were subject to the caprice of a weak or a wicked judiciary, little else would be left worth preservation. Robbery, imprisonment, and murder committed under judicial forms, strike at the root of liberty, and no state can be happy in which they are committed with impunity. In appointments to judicial stations, above all others, reference should only be had to purity of life, competent abilities, and fitness of character. No one should aspire to, or accept such a station, who is not conscious of his qualifications, and determined constantly to devote the whole energies of his mind, to a proper discharge of its duties. More depends on the character, ability and devotedness of the judicial officers appointed, than on the system under which they act. No perfection of system can supply the want of industry and competency. The system adopted in a new state like Michigan of course must have reference to the number of its population and to its condition generally. It may not be advisable to establish, and the people may not be able to sustain the most perfect system that could be devised and which would be best adapted to the wants of a state like New-York, with two millions of inhabitants and resources in proportion.

It may well be doubted whether the wants of the people demand, or whether the population or finances of the state warrant, at this time, the organization of the supreme court with separate judges whose duties shall be exclusively to decide issues of law. Too small a portion of their time would be occupied, and their offices would be too nearly sinecures. The discharge of duties upon the circuit, by a constant and beneficial exercise of the mind, better qualifies a judge for the performance of duties in the supreme court. The present system may, however, be improved by incorporating into it some of the features of the nisi prius system if not by adopting it altogether. More of the issues of law should be sent to the supreme court, where such issues more appropriately belong, and where their decision can be more satisfactorily made. Important questions of law cannot with profit be discussed or decided at the circuit; authorities are not usually accessible and time can seldom be spared to make satisfactory investigations. The business of the circuit, being limited to the trial of issues of fact, would be transacted with greater despatch, and with a consequent saving of expense to the people. The supreme court whenever in session, may perhaps with advantage set for the whole state. The whole subject commends itself exclusively to your careful attention.

I have caused to be selected the greater portion of the 500,000 acres of land relinquished to the state by the act of Congress of September 4, 1841. Selections have been made in each of the several land districts of the state, but above three-fifths of the whole are situated in the valley of Grand River and in the country immediately north of that stream. As the agents appointed to make these selections have not yet made their final reports, the sufficiency of the appropriation for that object cannot at present be ascertained. It is however proper to advise you, that as the appropriation of last year was made from the internal improvement fund, to the credit of which nothing remained, I have found it necessary in some instances, to draw from the contingent fund, such sums as were required to defray the necessary current expenses of those employed in selecting the lands. Without this resource the work could not have progressed, and the object to be accomplished was deemed of sufficient importance to warrant the adoption of this course. Explorations have been carefully and extensively made, and it is believed the lands selected are desirable as well for their location as for their superior quality.

Among the duties incident to your present session will be that of providing for the disposition of these lands. The establishment of a land office at the seat of government or at some other suitable place in the state, is suggested as a measure worthy of your consideration. It is believed that the duties of a fiscal character now devolving on the superintendent of public instruction may, with advantage, be transferred to the person entrusted by law with the superintendence and control of the office proposed. Indeed, all the lands of the state whether held in fee or in trust, may there be made subject to sale or such other disposition as the Legislature, from time to time, may direct.

The price and terms of sale you alone can determine. Some locations on account of water power or other local advantages, of course, must be more valuable than others, and for this reason the lands should be offered at auction to the highest bidder before they are subject to private entry. The evidence of the domestic indebtedness of the state, should in all cases be received in payment, and the price should not be fixed so high that injustice would be done the public creditor who might be willing thus to receive satisfaction for his claims, nor so low that the state would receive an inadequate consideration in the exchange. Justice to those portions of the state, contiguous to the lands selected, also require their early disposition at a fair and just valuation.

Care should be taken to protect the public treasury by requiring the officer, who is authorized to receive the proceeds of sales, frequently to pay over the receipts, and by providing such other appropriate checks upon his proceedings, as will insure, without delay, the discovery of any default or omission of duty enjoined by law. Considerations of economy and safety may, perhaps, afford sufficient reasons for requiring the Secretary of State and the State Treasurer to perform the duties of the office proposed to be established in addition to the duties now required of them by law.

In accordance with the provisions of "An act relative to the State Salt Springs, and the lands granted for the use of the same," approved February 16, 1842, I have caused to be surveyed and laid out into lots, suitable for the manufacture of salt, so much of the lands adjoining the salt springs near Grand River as, it was believed, would soon be required for public use. Dr. Houghton, the State Geologist, under whose direction the necessary surveys have been made, has not yet made his report, but as soon as the same shall be received, a copy will be laid before the legislature. The surveys would have been made at an earlier day but from a hope that the completion of the improvement in progress would show the supply and quality of water obtained, and consequently afford some guide in regard to the extent of land required. The well has been sunk nearly 800 feet and the water discharged is equal to 200 gallons per minute. The saline qualities of this water, however, are not at present such as afford satisfactory assurance that salt can be manufactured from it extensively or with profit. Dr. Houghton is endeavoring by the sinking of tubes to shut off the fresh water and to ascertain the true saline qualities of the spring, and the quantity of water it will produce. The result of his experiments cannot of course be foreseen. The works of Mr. Lyon in the vicinity of those belonging to the state are in successful operation.

By the terms of the act of Congress relinquishing to the State the salt spring lands, the legislature is inhibited from selling or leasing them at any one time for a longer period than ten years except by the consent of Congress. If this restriction be regarded as obligatory upon the state, a large portion of the lands will be of little use.

The legislation of last year on the subject of banks and of currency has been salutary in its influence. The numerous bankrupt institutions, that had previously inundated the state with their irredeemable and worthless paper, have ceased to exist, and their assets, when any could be found, have been put into the hands of receivers. The remaining banks have maintained specie payments and have ceased to issue notes payable elsewhere than at their counters, or in other commodity than gold and silver. It is proper, however, to inform you that the Attorney General, at my instance, has made thorough examination into their condition, and while he reports that nothing has been discovered that need give alarm to the bill holder or other creditor, such examination did not afford him entire satisfaction with regard to their management; but as a disposition was evinced to apply a speedy remedy to the evils complained of, and as the public seemed not to be endangered, he deemed it within the scope of his authority to afford reasonable time for that purpose. Banking institutions and all other incorporations, while the execution of the laws is entrusted to me, will be required in their action to conform to the provisions contained in the acts of their incorporation, and every departure, not authorized by law, will be deemed a violation of charter and forfeiture enforced.

The officers of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank refuse to submit that institution to the examination of the Bank Commissioner. It is worthy of your consideration whether such modification of its charter should not be made as will make it subject to investigation and examination in the same manner as other banking institutions.

If stockholders, directors and other officers, were by law prohibited from receiving loans and discounts from the banks under their control, and at the same time made personally liable for all their debts, a portion at least of the evils incident to the banking operations would be remedied. Some of the motives for obtaining bank charters and bank stock would be removed, and less bank paper would be issued without a sufficient specie basis. So well am I convinced that such a law would be salutary in its influence, that I have no hesitation to recommend it in addition to the restrictions now imposed upon banks. No injustice would be done to individuals, while the safety of bill holders would be greatly increased. In partnerships for other business each individual partner is liable for all the debts of the association, and no sufficient reason is perceived for exempting the members of a partnership for banking from a similar liability. Banks should also be prohibited from issuing at their counters or otherwise putting in circulation bank notes other than their own.

Acts of incorporation are grants of exclusive privileges and should be given, if at all, with a sparing hand. Those which authorize the exercise of banking powers are most liable to abuse. Public good is always the pretext under which they are asked, but in the exercise of the franchise when granted, public good is no longer considered. In such applications impulses of patriotism are less the motives of action than the promptings of individual interest.

If banks, as they profess, were really money lending institutions, their usefulness would be less questionable. Every stockholder should be a money lender to the amount of his stock. Unfortunately, however, banks are controlled more by borrowers than lenders. Their capital should be exclusively specie ; but that is a commodity little used for such a purpose. Their issues of paper, for the most part, have no basis but fiction, and until an efficient remedy can be found for this evil, so fatal and yet so universal, the public will be subject to loss by the frequent failure of banks.

The property of a people consists in the productions of its industry. Banks and bankers do not increase those productions. The officers of banks contribute nothing to the wealth of the State ; their object is to live upon the industry of others. They are not a producing, but a consuming class, and the tendency of all just legislation is to reduce this class to the least possible limit.

The intent of a republican government is that each individual without molestation shall enjoy what his industry has produced. The object of our fathers of the revolution, in the struggles which they endured, was the establishment of individual rights to the exclusion of privilege and monopoly. The principles of just and equal rights and consequent popular liberty were by them fearlessly asserted in that immortal document, the declaration of independence, and, under all circumstances, maintained until opposition ceased to be made. Principles, thus hallowed, should be preserved in their purity, and exclusive privilege, if conferred at all, should only be conferred when imperiously demanded by public good. Applications for individual aggrandizement, though urged under pretexts of patriotism, should meet only rebuke at your hands.

By the constitution of the state, it is made the duty of the legislature to provide by law for organizing and disciplining the militia, and particularly to provide for the efficient discipline of the officers, commissioned and non-commissioned. Perhaps no other subject, coming within the scope of your duties, will be more difficult of adjustment than this, or about which exist opinions more variant, or more difficult of reconciliation. The legislature has hitherto postponed a revision of the laws upon this subject, more perhaps from the causes adverted to, than from a conviction that such revision was not required. The existing laws in regard to the militia were mostly passed previous to the organization of the state government, and, as under such circumstances might be expected, in many instances are inapplicable, of difficult construction, and often contradictory in their provisions.

I am fully aware of the repugnance that, to a great extent, exists in the public mind against such an organization of the militia as, in giving it effect, will require of the citizens attendance upon trainings and reviews and subjection, at stated times, to strict military discipline. If, however, a well organized and disciplined militia be necessary for the preservation of the just rights and liberties of the people, it is your duty to provide for its maintenance and improvement.

If its moral influence, as well as its physical power, be important to the preservation of the body politic, then patriotism requires all good citizens to lend their aid in giving it efficiency. If it be a system that is essential to the perpetuation of free institutions, it deserves our fostering care. In the old world the people are not allowed the possession of arms, and it is worthy of remark, that among the first amendments to the constitution of the United States, was one which declared that the right of Americans to bear arms, should never be infringed, and that a well regulated militia was necessary to the security of a free state.

From the efficient manner in which the duties of the office of Adjutant General have been discharged, and from the assistance and co-operation of other officers, considerable progress has been made in the organization of the militia, during the past year ; but from impediments encountered, among which not the least is the imperfect legislation upon the subject, that organization is far from being complete.

I herewith transmit the report of the Adjutant General, and commend it to your attentive consideration. I am particularly impressed with the justness of the remarks it contains upon the subject of inadequate compensation for the services required of that officer.

The whole number of militia enrolled and mustered, including officers of all grades, musicians and privates, 47,050, of which, however, only 20,673 were duly returned according to law. The necessary returns have been made to the general government, to ensure the due quota of arms to which the state is entitled.

Without some appropriate action during your present session, by which necessary facilities may be afforded, the entire organization of the militia cannot be effected. But from the hope of an immediate revision of the laws, the officers, who have the subject in charge, would long since have abandoned the undertaking. The situation of the state, bordering upon the territory of one of the most powerful kingdoms in the world, seems to require fit and proper provisions for its defence, on which reliance might be placed in case of attack. Common prudence should admonish us to provide for safety when danger is far away. I, however, advise that whatever plan you adopt, you impose the least possible burden upon the people, consistent with the provisions of the constitution and the object to be effected. Encouragement should be given for the formation of volunteer companies, by shortening the period during which their members are liable to perform military duty, or in such other method as you may deem just and proper.

By a joint resolution, approved February 4th, 1842, the legislature proposed an amendment to the constitution, by which, with specified exceptions, every law authorizing the borrowing of money, or the issuing of state stock, is required to be submitted to the people at the general election then next to be held, and be approved before the same shall take effect, by a majority of votes given on the question of its adoption. This proposed amendment, as required by the constitution, was duly published for three months, previous to the last general election, and if two-thirds of the members elect to each house of the present legislature approve the same, it will then be your duty to submit it to the people in such manner and at such time as you deem most appropriate.

In my last annual communication, the situation of the works of internal improvement were described in detail, and the future policy of the state, in regard to their further prosecution, explicitly pointed out, and without reserve recommended.

The legislature, at an early day of its last session, by a joint resolution, required the acting Commissioner to forbear entering into any new contracts or arrangement involving expenditure of money not then already contracted to be expended upon the works of internal improvement ; and consequently the operations of the board during the last year have been, in this regard, restricted to the carrying into effect contracts that had been previously made. Expenditures have been made under such contracts on the

Southern Rail Road,	83,824 24
Central Rail Road,	110,584 77

Making a total expenditure the last year of $170,545 58

Of the works of the state, the Central and Southern rail roads only yield a revenue. The receipts on the former during the year ending Nov. 30, 1842, were in all $436,895 33, of which $73,819 37 was expended for repairs and running the cars, leaving $63,075 96 net profits. Since the 8th of April last, when the present acting Commissioner took charge of the works of internal improvements, embracing a period of less than eight months, the whole receipts amount to $114,302 74, of which during the same time was expended $42,225 82, leaving the sum of $72,076 92 net profits. This road during the year has been finished and in use between Detroit and Jackson, a distance of only about eighty miles, and the net earnings for that period have been about six per cent. on its original cost. The expenditures for construction, since the last report of the board have been restricted to that portion between Jackson and Marshall, and which is now so far advanced that it will be ready for the iron early in the spring.

The receipts on the Southern rail road for the year past were $15,710 52, which have been expended in repairs and for running the cars. The value of this road, however, cannot be estimated by the amount of revenue it has hitherto produced. It has only been used between Monroe and Adrian, a distance of thirty-six miles. At Monroe, its eastern termination, difficulties have existed tending to diminish the business of the road and consequently its revenue to the State. The road was originally constructed to a point where the ship canal then in a state of forwardness, was to terminate. A failure to complete the canal rendered the eastern termination of the road inaccessible to vessels; and La Plaisance bay rail road, which though it terminates at a point accessible by vessels, and is connected with the southern road, was so defective in its original construction and is now in such dilapidated condition, that a locomotive engine cannot with safety pass over its track. These inconveniences are likely soon to be removed by the completion of the ship canal. If however, this work be retarded, the La Plaisance bay road should be put in such repair as will permit its use with locomotive power. The extension of the road to Hudson, fifteen miles west of Adrian, which is the termination of the Erie and Kalamazoo rail road, and a removal of the obstacles to a convenient transshipment at Monroe will, in a great measure, obviate competition and secure to the state a revenue more proportionate to the cost of construction. The usefulness of the southern road, as well in regard to the income to be received by the State, as to the facilities to be offered to the southern tier of counties, so much depends upon the certain, free, and unrestricted accessibility of vessels of all classes to the point designated as its eastern termination, that it is well worthy of your inquiry whether some appropriate enactment may not be required to secure more effectually, so desirable an object. No information is within reach of this department sufficiently authentic to warrant any express recommendation, and for your guidance you must rely on knowledge of the subject that may be communicated from other sources.

By a joint resolution approved February 17, 1842, the board of internal improvement were authorized to pledge, for a term not exceeding five years, the net proceeds of the Southern railroad for the purchase of iron necessary for its completion to Hillsdale. The board have used every exertion on their part, but have been unable to obtain the iron on the terms prescribed. A quantity of iron sufficient for about ten miles, found in possession of the state and not required for immediate use, has been put upon this road, by which means, with the use of a few miles of wooden rails, it will hereafter be used with locomotive power between Hudson and Monroe, a distance of fifty-one miles. The whole track is now prepared for the iron to Hillsdale.

For a more detail account of the works of internal improvement, you are respectfully referred to the annual report of the board. With the views presented in that report I generally concur, and recommend the same to your careful consideration.

With regard to the future policy of the state on this subject, I entertain the same views that were communicated to the legislature in my last annual message, and which I now repeat. The completion of the plan of internal improvement, as originally projected, can no longer be hoped, at least for many years to come; and, therefore, the present action of the legislature, having in view its further prosecution, should be restricted to such portion of the system, as will yield the greatest revenue to the impoverished treasury of the state,

!at the same time, afford facilities to the greatest number of our citizens. The first money that can be made available for that purpose, should, I think, be applied to the purchase of the iron necessary to complete the Central road to Marshall, and the Southern road to Hillsdale. Thereafter accruing means will be expended with greatest advantage to the state, in the further construction of the Central road west of Marshall.

The indebtedness of the state on account of the five million loan, and the loan of a hundred thousand dollars each to the Ypsilanti and Tecumseh railroad company, and to the Marshall and Allegan railroad company, for which consideration has been received, as ascertained by the Auditor General and State Treasurer, under the act of February 17, 1842, and the joint resolution of the same date, amounts to $2,342,960 24 ; and taking this sum as the true amount due on account of those loans, our entire indebtedness is as follows :

For loans above named,	$2,342,960 24
General fund bonds,	100,000 00
University bonds,	100,000 00
Detroit and Pontiac railroad bonds,	100,000 00

Primary school and interest funds,	38,434 99

Total debt of the state,	$3,585,334 24

Since the close of the last session of the legislature, information has been received by the State Treasurer, that enables him to furnish nearly a complete list of the holders of the bonds of the state now outstanding, and to discriminate those who have paid a consideration. The substance of that information is contained in a communication from that officer to me, of the date of the 6th of December last, and which is herewith transmitted. By that communication it will be seen, that of the bonds of the five million loan, $3,855,000 is yet the property of the Bank of the United States, hypothecated, however, on terms not fully transpired, to various houses in Europe, of which a list is given, together with the amount and description of the bonds that are held by each. The circumstances of the hypothecation warrant the belief, that the equity existing between the state and the bank, has been in no way affected by that transaction.

While our relation to our constituents makes it our first duty to protect their interests, we are equally bound to do justice to the public creditor of the state. Every just claim should be acknowledged and means of payment provided with the least possible delay. That state which resorts to its sovereignty to avoid pecuniary obligations, of which the justness is not denied, while it does not cancel its indebtedness, sets an example that tends directly to subvert all government. By the same rules that bind individuals, should states regulate their action ; the same moral obligations that require in individuals the observance of good faith, require also its observance on the part of sovereign states. Michigan, while the virtue of her population remains, will never refuse acknowledgment of her just debts nor fail to make payment when the means are within her power. True it is that circumstances have rendered it impossible, for the time, to meet with promptness all just claims upon her treasury ; but no disposition has ever been evinced by her constituted authorities to do injustice. Present inability and consequent temporary delay, should not be construed into refusal or wilful neglect. The works of internal improvement, constructed with the proceeds of the loans for which the state is indebted, and its other property, are offered without reserve, in liquidation of its indebtedness ; not, however, as a tender, but as an assurance of good faith, satisfactory it is hoped, to those who are disposed to await returning ability on the part of the state, and as the only means within our control with which to satisfy the claims of such as, without regard to circumstances, demand payment at the present time. And while at all times Michigan has so sincerely manifested an ardent wish to fulfil her engagements and preserve her plighted faith inviolate, I regret that it is not in my power to lay before you some just and equitable proposition from the holders of the bonds of the state for which no consideration has been received, and which every principle of justice requires to be surrendered.

By the act of February 11, 1842, the several railroad companies were authorized to discharge their liabilities to the state, on account of the loans contracted in their behalf, by a return of the bonds issued, or the payment into the treasury of an equal amount of other state securities. None of such corporations have, however, availed themselves of this provision, nor have they in any case provided for the interest that has accrued on the several loans negotiated for them by the state.

Of the whole indebtedness of the state, as shown above, $544,849 25, exclusive of interest, is due to our citizens, the counties and the school and university funds. This domestic indebtedness, the payment of most of which was never intended to be delayed, should be cancelled as soon as possible, and in such manner as will satisfy all interested. The amount due the counties will be mostly paid by offsets for taxes, and that due the education funds, as has already been intimated, may be retained by the state on payment of interest. The warrants drawn against the internal improvement fund, being the greatest item, and nearly one-half of the domestic debt, and which is now most depreciated, it is believed, may be soon paid by the proceeds of the sales of the state lands and of the assets of Michigan State Bank, or by an immediate exchange, at the option of the creditor.

The scrip was issued on account of the works of internal improvement and should properly be redeemed by that fund ; but as by the law authorizing its issue, it was made receivable for all taxes and dues to the state, it has been redeemed in part by almost every fund created by law. It will of course be receivable for sale of state lands and no further legislation on the subject of scrip is deemed necessary unless it be thought advisable to prohibit its reissue altogether. Nearly one-half of the amount outstanding was redeemed during the last year, and without further action of the legislature, the remainder will soon be absorbed. Its re-issue for any other purpose than that now authorized by law, should not be allowed. Beyond question of doubt, it is precisely that species of currency which, by the Constitution of the United States, the States are prohibited from issuing, and I should deem it my duty to withhold my approval from any bill authorizing the issue of further sums or the reissue of the present scrip beyond the requirements of the law by which it was created. Besides the objections of a constitutional character, the impolicy of resorting to paper issues for temporary relief has been so clearly demonstrated, by lessons of the past, that such a measure should never receive your sanction. The proposition to fund the scrip now outstanding, however desirable such a measure might be, is not believed to be feasible as sufficient inducements cannot be offered for its surrender.

The collateral securities taken in 1840 from the Morris Canal and Banking Company, should be surrendered on the adjustment of the five million loan, as contemplated in the act of February 17th, 1842; and any sums that, in the meantime, may be realized from them should be accounted for to the parties in interest. The nominal amount of these securities was $621,000, and at the time they were obtained were estimated by the late Treasurer, who procured them in behalf of the State, to be available for at least half a million of dollars. From information, however, more recently obtained, it is believed they are of but little value, and that, with the exception of the judgment of $40,000 upon the fixtures of the Long Island Railroad Company, whatever else is realized must be obtained by expensive proceedings at law. The late State Treasurer, as appears by his report, deposited these securities for safe keeping in the hands of an attorney in New-York, to whom, for his assistance in obtaining them, he had paid a thousand dollars. For safe keeping eighteen months, that being the time they remained in his possession, this attorney charged the State at the rate of a thousand dollars a year with fees in addition for all services actually performed; and though during that period he claimed, in his account presented, to have been a special agent of the State in attending to its interests and making negotiations in relation to claims assigned, yet he neglected to make investigation into the state of the securities, or to give any satisfactory statement respecting them; for the reason, principally, as appears by his letter on file in the office of the State Treasurer, that he had no funds to meet the expense. They have since been deposited in the hands of Messrs. Lee, Dater & Miller, a responsible mercantile house in New-York, who will receive any payment that may be offered, with no other expense to the State than reasonable compensation for services rendered. The direction of the legislature is requested in regard to the course to be pursued with these assets.

From the assets of Michigan State Bank the trustees have collected in state securities $29,641 71, and have obtained lands in settlement with some of the debtors estimated to be worth $12,075 50. A large amount of these assets before their assignment to the State, had, for the purpose of collection, been put into the hands of two gentlemen, partners in the profession of law, who now under pretext that injustice has been done that institution by enactments of the legislature at its last session, refuse to account to the trustees or to pay over any moneys by them collected. Proceedings have been instituted and are now pending in the court of chancery by which the legality of their refusal will be tested. These assets amounted nominally, at the time of the settlement with the bank, to above $630,000, but it is believed, that, with the best possible management, the amount to be realized will be comparatively small. The report of the trustees is herewith transmitted.

There is now due the State Treasury from the several counties $112,409 81, of which $58,296 07 is for assessment of 1842. There is now remaining due in the Auditor General's office for unpaid taxes the sum of $138,225 87. The amount due the primary school interest fund remains in the Treasury on deposit.

The above together with the lands already mentioned and the revenue of the Central and Southern Railroads, constitute all the resources of the State from which income can be expected the ensuing year.

The entire expense of the State government, during the year ending Nov. 30, excepting expenses of the State prison, amounted to the sum of $45,640 76.

I herewith transmit the first annual report of the board of Auditors appointed under the act of the 14th of February, 1842, and which contains a statement in detail of their proceedings during the past year.

I invite your attention to a thorough examination of the situation of our finances. A state can never be truly prosperous while its finances remain in an uncertain and embarrassed condition. Expenses should be incurred for necessary objects alone, and the strictest investigation made into the justness of all claims that are presented for your allowance. As a great part of the expenditures for the support of the state government are made in payment of the members of the legislature or for printing and other objects incident to its session, you will, I doubt not, so direct your labors that while you will not act with precipitation or pass enactments crude and undigested, you will at the same time, with a view to diminish the burdens upon the people, bring your session to a close at as early a day as is consistent with the public good and a proper despatch of public business.

In connection with the subject of our finances, I deem it my duty to call your attention to the unseated and unpatented lands within the limits of the state. The quantity and value of this domain, and a due regard to the rights of Michigan as an independent state, seem to demand at least an inquiry into the right of its fee, exempt from taxation, as claimed by the general government.

The states, under compact of the federal constitution, are more properly confederated sovereignties than integral parts of a central government. The present confederation differs little from that formed before the adoption of the constitution, except in the enumeration of powers, and the certitude with which they are delegated.

The states then are sovereign, and one of the most essential attributes of sovereignty in a state, is its right to possess: all waste and unpatented lands within its limits, and to dispose of the same at will. This right is not only claimed and exercised in regard to wild and unoccupied lands, but in regard to those occupied and improved, when the proprietor dies without heirs recognized by law, or when, from any cause, no claimant can establish a legal title.

The sovereignty of the original states conferred the title by which they held the public lands within their limits and why should not the same efficient cause produce a like effect in the new states? The independence of the one class is, in all respects, as perfect as that of the other. Congress may admit new states, but it can superadd no conditions. The constitution makes no distinction in regard to their rights, and none can be made by other authority.

Congress has, however, exacted from the new states, as a condition of their admission, a conventional acknowledgment of the proprietary interest of the general government in the public domain, to their own exclusion. This is at least an indication that the general government has not full confidence in its title by reason of any constitutional provision; for a right conferred upon that government by the instrument from which it derives its existence, requires no additional sanction to give it validity: and such an acknowledgment exacted as the price of admission from a state, not yet a member of the Union and when no other of its acts would be recognized as legal, would be void for duress, if it were not void for violation of the constitution. Congress cannot bargain with the states for their reserved rights.

Conceding, however, that by the terms of their original grant, and by the second clause of the third section of the fourth article of the Constitution, the fee of the public lands is secured in perpetuity to the general government, then we may well inquire what impellent exists to prevent their unrestricted taxation by the states.

The right to assess and levy taxes, is an attribute of sovereignty, and without its exercise no government could exist. The states would be neither sovereign nor free, if they did not possess the power to levy all needful taxes for their support. No authority but the federal constitution can restrict them in the exercise of this power; and where, it is asked, with most emphatic meaning, is to be found in that hallowed instrument, the provision that takes from a state the right to tax all lands within its limits? If the clause of the Constitution adverted to confers the title upon the general government, the sovereignty of the states yet remains undiminished in regard to the right of taxation. No constitutional inhibition can be pretended, and the right has never been surrendered by Michigan, since she has been an acknowledged member of the Union.

I have much confidence in the correctness of the views here briefly presented, particularly those which relate to the right of taxation; yet, as a different doctrine has so long prevailed, and as the new states have so long acquiesced in the claims of the general government, I am prepared at this time to recommend no definite action in regard to the subject. It is of deep concernment to the state, and requires mature and deliberate consideration. No step should be hastily taken, and none that it would be found necessary to retrace.

The Geological and Topographical survey of the State, upon the plan originally proposed, has been sterily progressing, and the field work has been brought to a close. The original plan of organization for the completion of this work was such that a large amount of the labor, which in the surveys of other states has been performed by assistants, was here imposed upon the person to whom was entrusted the charge of the work. For this reason a considerable amount of office work yet remains to be performed. The large amount of materials collected for the final report are yet to be arranged, the analysis of minerals and soils to be finished, and the drafting of geological and topographical maps to be completed.

While it is desirable that the results of this work should be laid before the public at as early a day as possible, sufficient time should, nevertheless, be allowed for the digestion and compilation of the final report and for drafting the necessary maps and diagrams.

The publication of the topographical maps of the state and of the counties, as required by law, was suspended in consequence of the embarrassments of the treasury, but has recently been resumed by the geologist and maps of the several counties will be speedily laid before the public.

If the commencement of a geological survey of the state was now the question presented for consideration, I should have no hesitation in recommending its postponement, and whilst I think the survey now in progress was prematurely undertaken, yet as it is so nearly brought to a close, true economy seems to require its completion.

During the year ending October 31st, 1842, fifty convicts were received into the state prison, and during the same time four escaped, one was killed in his recapture, one died, nineteen were discharged by expiration of sentence, two were pardoned by my predecessor and two by me, and at that date eighty-seven still remained. The whole value of labor performed by convicts during the year, is estimated by the agent at $9,127 04, and he is of opinion that the entire yard wall and other necessary improvements in the prison, may be completed by the labor of convicts during the present year, without appropriation from the legislature. After the completion of the prison, it is hoped that the proceeds of convict labor, now applied to the improvements in progress, will be sufficient to defray the ex-tire expense necessary for safe keeping and maintenance of the prisoners.

The recent numerous disasters upon the lakes, involving the loss both of property and life, affords, perhaps, a sufficient reason for calling your attention to the situation of our harbors. Michigan, being almost entirely an agricultural state, pays more than a due proportion of the revenue of the government, and yet, with a greater extent of navigable coast than any other state in the Union, the amount expended within her limits for the improvement of harbors, has been comparatively small. The value of property lost upon our shores within the last few years, for the want of sufficient harbors, probably exceeds the amount necessary for their entire construction. A proper representation of the facts to Congress, may perhaps induce that body to take the subject into favorable consideration.

JOHN S. BARRY.

January 2, 1843.

On motion of Mr. McCamly, 5,000 copies of the message and 2,500 copies of accompanying documents were ordered to be printed, and,

On motion of Mr. Lothrop, the House adjourned until to-morrow morning, 9 o'clock.

TUESDAY, January 3, 1843.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. Goodwin from the committee on revision of rules and orders, reported the rules of last session with various amendments, when

Mr. Patterson moved the reference of the report to the committee of the whole, which was lost.

Mr. Goodwin moved that the report be taken up by the House, which motion prevailed, and,

On motion of Mr. Lamb,

The 31st rule was amended by adding a committee on Federal Relations and,

The rules as reported were adopted.

Communications were received from the President of the board of Internal Improvement, and from the State Treasurer, covering their annual reports, which were severally laid upon the table.

Mr. McCamly moved a reconsideration of his motion yesterday, in relation to the printing of the Governor's message, which motion prevailed.

On motion of Mr. Schoolcraft, amended by Mr. Littlejohn,

Resolved, That the Clerk of the House cause to be printed for the use of the House 1,400 copies of the Governor's message in the English, 500 copies in the French, 200 copies in the German languages, and that he cause the same to be translated accordingly.

Mr. Bush offered the following resolution :

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That section 43 of an act entitled "An act for the assessment and collection of taxes," approved February 16, 1842, be suspended until the first day of January, 1844.

Mr. Bush moved a suspension of the rule, which did not prevail, and the resolution lies on the table until to-morrow.

Mr. Littlejohn gave notice that he will at some future day ask leave to introduce a bill entitled an act to amend an act entitled "An act to amend the several acts concerning the supreme court, circuit court and courts of chancery of the State of Michigan," approved Feb. 11, 1837.

So much of the Governor's message as relates to the finances of the state and lake harbors was referred to the committee on ways and means.

So much as relates to the laws and to the reports and reporter of the supreme court, to the committee on the judiciary.

So much as relates to the selection and disposition of the 500,000 acres of land relinquished to the state by the act of Congress of September 4, 1841, to the university, school and salt lands, be referred to the committee on university and school lands; and so much as relates to internal improvement, to the committee on internal improvement.

So much as relates to the subject of education and school lands, to committee on education.

So much as relates to banks to committee on banks.

So much as relates to the state prison to committee on state prison.

So much as relates to the militia to the committee on the militia.

So much as expresses an opinion as to the right of the state to tax the unpatented lands of the general government, within her limits, be referred to the committee on federal relations.

Mr. Lacey presented the following Protest, which was read and ordered to be placed on the journals of the House :

The undersigned, a member of the House of Representatives, begs leave respectfully to against the resolution passed by the House on the 3d instant, which resolution was in the words following to wit :

“Resolved, That the clerk of this House invite the reverend clergy of the city of Detroit, to officiate alternately, at the opening of the morning sessions by prayer, receiving therefor only such compensation as the members shall voluntarily contribute.”

In assigning his objections to the above resolution, the undersigned will wholly discard that which has been oftenest insisted upon in like cases—that it is an approximation to a union of church and state. Is it a union of church and state for fifty or one hundred gentlemen, members of the legislative body, who are assembled together in the Capitol of the state, to direct that prayers shall be offered up to Heaven in their hearing once each day, while they are so assembled? Certainly not. The service rendered by the officiating minister of the gospel each day, is prior to the organization of the House for business on that day. It is no part or parcel of the machinery of legislation. No member, however sacred he may hold the democratic doctrine of the right of instruction, can be instructed on this subject.

As well might he hold himself answerable to his constituents for the manner in which he discharged his political duties. It is true that the members of the House have a right to require that he should offer his prayers to God on each day of the session in the hall of the House of Representatives, it must at the same time be conceded that they may properly compel him to fulfil his other religious duties in a designated church, and in the midst of the accepted sect. Members must be, therefore, and they are, left free to act in this respect, according to their own sense of personal accountability.

But is this the light in which the matter is viewed by all the people? Is this the light in which the matter is viewed by all of their representatives? Are there no members here who have felt themselves instructed to give the vote which they have given in favor of the resolution? If there be any such, they at least must recognize the daily religious services in this hall, as a part of their political and legislative duties. They must see in these services a part of the machinery of government, and they must be a little too favorably disposed towards a union of church and state.

The custom now under consideration is of long standing, and it has been called time honored. But when a long established usage of even acknowledged beneficial tendencies, comes to depend for its support upon false principles, and its perpetuation is procured by dangerous means, it is time that usage was abolished. It has become fixed, to a certain extent, in the public mind, that the will of the constituent in the case referred to, is the law to the legislator. Can any thing be more dangerous? At least one of the members of the present House, has been threatened by a most respectable portion of his constituents with political annihilation if he gave the vote which he yesterday gave against this resolution. The right to instruct him on this subject, has been openly avowed. And this too, in a matter purely between the member and his maker. It is time such notions were boldly met and encountered.

The undersigned also solemnly protests against the resolution on the ground of its indelicacy and injustice toward those members of the House, (if there be any such,) who either have no religion, or are professors of some religion other than the christian religion. And he further protests against it because he believes it to be eminently promotive of perhaps the worst feature in the human character, to wit : hypocrisy.

On motion of Mr. Schoolcraft, a call of the House was ordered, when the members were all present except Messrs. Cady and Provost.

On motion of Mr. Goodwin further proceedings on the call were

REPORTS.

Mr. Pratt from the committee on enrolment, reported as correctly engrossed, the "bill for the payment of the members and officers of the Legislature for 1843."

Mr. Littlejohn, from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the Senate "bill to amend section 26, chapter 2, title 7, part 2d of the revised statutes, relative to divorce," reported the same back without amendment, and the bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the same committee, to whom was referred the Senate bill "for the relief of the township of Lexington in the county of St. Clair," having examined and fully considered the same, would respectfully report that in their opinion, its passage would be a measure of doubtful utility. The manifest tendency of all subsequent legislation, is to induce great remissness on the part of our public officers ; whereas, in the view of your committee, a strict compliance with all the requirements of positive law, will ever be found highly necessary to insure to the citizen the benefits of wise and wholesome legislation. But your committee go still farther. They not only doubt the expediency, but they seriously question the validity of all enactments having in view the correction of irregular and illegal action, by ex post facto legislation. Whenever the errors or omissions of public officers shall become a question for judicial decision, your committee believe the protective shield of retroactive legislation will be found unavailing except so far as it may exonerate individuals from the fines and penalties imposed by existing statutory provisions. Your committee therefore report adversely to the bill and pray to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

On motion of Mr. Goodwin, the report of the committee was accepted and the committee was discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Bush from the committee on banks and incorporations, reported "a bill to incorporate the Eerrien Bridge company," which was referred to the committee of the whole and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Rice laid the following joint resolutions upon the table, and the same were ordered to be printed :

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That so much of the fourth section of the fourth article of the Constitution as prescribes the time when the Representatives shall be chosen, and which is in these words, to wit : "Annually on the first Monday of November and on the following day," be abolished, and that the following be substituted in the place thereof, to wit : On the first Monday of November, one thousand eight hundred and forty-five, and once in two years, on the first Monday of November forever thereafter.

Resolved, That so much of the fifth section of the same article as prescribes that the Senators shall be chosen at the time of choosing Representatives, and which is in the words, to wit : "At the same time," be abolished, and that the following be substituted in place thereof, to wit : "Annually on the first Monday of November."

Resolved, That so much of the twenty-first section of the same article as prescribes, that the legislature shall meet annually, and which is in these words, to wit : "in every year," be abolished, and that the following be substituted in the place thereof, to wit : one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, and forever thereafter, once in two years, on the first Monday in January.

Resolved, That so much of the ninth section of the fifth article, as prohibits the Governor from adjourning the Legislature beyond the first Monday in January in any year, and which is in the following words, to wit : "annual meeting," be abolished, and that the following be substituted in the place thereof, to wit : "biennial meeting."

Resolved, That the foregoing proposed amendments of the constitution, be entered upon the respective journals of the Senate and House of Representatives, and referred to the next Legislature of this state, and that the secretary of state cause the same to be published as required by the constitution.

On motion of Mr. Rix,

Resolved, That the Auditor General be required to furnish this House the information upon what grounds the taxes of 1833 were charged back to the counties of St. Clair, Lapeer and Lenawee.

Mr. Carpenter offered the following resolution, which did not prevail :

Resolved, That the committee on education be instructed to inquire into the expediency of amending an act entitled "an act to amend the revised statutes relative to primary schools," approved April 1, 1840, so as to authorize school districts to lay taxes upon the property of districts for the support of schools.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The Speaker announced for a third reading the engrossed "bill to provide for the payment of the members and officers of the Legislature for 1843."

Mr. Lamb called for the reading of the petition offered by him this morning, from inhabitants of the county of Lapeer, and the same was read ; when,

Mr. Bush moved to recommit the bill to the committee from which it originated, with instructions to bring in a bill to reduce the pay of members and officers of this Legislature to two dollars per day, and to reduce the salary of the chief justice of the state and the associate justices one fourth the price now allowed by law.

The yeas and nays being called for, the motion was lost by the following vote :

Yeas—Messrs. Anderson, Axford, Barnard, Bush, Hixon, Howe, King, Lamb, Lothrop, Lawrence, Moore, Murray, Poppleton, Pratt, Provost, Purdy, Rice, Rowland, Smith, Snell, Vickery—21.

Nays—Messrs. Andrews, Beach, Carpenter, J. L. Gage, W. Gage, Goodell, Godfrey, Goodwin, Hagaman, Johnson, Lacey, Littlejohn, Livermore, McCamly, McLeod, Mottram, O'Keeffe, Olds, Patterson, Rix, Schoolcraft, Seely, Snow, Vaughn, Videto, Waldron, Weld, Younglove, Speaker—29.

And the question being taken on the passage of the bill, the same was passed by yeas and nays as follows :

Yeas—Messrs. Andrews, Beach, Carpenter, J. L. Gage, W. Gage, Goodell, Godfroy, Goodwin, Hagaman, Johnson, Lacey, Littlejohn, Livermore, McCamly, McLeod, Mottram, O'Keeffe, Patterson, Rix, Schoolcraft, Seely, Snow, Vaughn, Videto, Waldron, Weld, Younglove, Speaker—28.

Nays—Messrs. Anderson, Axford, Barnard, Bush, Hixon, Howe, King, Lamb, Lothrop, Lawrence, Murray, Olds, Poppleton, Pratt, Provost, Purdy, Rice, Rowland, Smith, Snell, Vickery—20.

Mr. Goodwin called up the "bill suspending the 43d and 44th sections of the tax law, and for other purposes," and

Mr. Lamb moved that the committee of the whole be discharged from the further consideration of the subject, and that the bill be printed.

On motion of Mr. Smith,

The question was divided, and the motion prevailed to discharge the bill from the committee of the whole, when

Mr. Goodwin moved that the further consideration of the bill be indefinitely postponed, which motion prevailed.

On motion of Mr. Johnson, the House then adjourned.

TUESDAY, January 10, 1843.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

Mr. Rice presented the following protest, which was ordered to be entered upon the journals:

The undersigned, a member of the House of Representatives, with due deference to the opinion of the majority of this House, as deliberately expressed, on the final passage of the bill entitled "a bill to provide for the payment of the members and officers of the Legislature for 1843," most respectfully begs leave to dissent from, and protest against said bill or act, that is to say, so much thereof as provides that the Speaker of this House shall be allowed six dollars per day. It may not be improper in the outset, to say, that what gives this question its main importance, in a pecuniary point of view, is the fact that, in the fifteenth section of the fifth article of the constitution of this state, it is expressly declared, that the "Lieutenant Governor shall, by virtue of his office, be president of the Senate," and in the nineteenth section of the same article it is declared that the "Lieutenant Governor, except when acting as Governor, and the President of the Senate pro tempore, shall each receive the same compensation as shall be allowed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives." Thus in fact making his the Speaker's compensation the measure of two other officers; only one of which, in fact is, in the present case, acting officially. This point, however, being of minor importance will not be further urged.

By the tenth section of the fourth article of the constitution of this state, the right is conferred upon this House of choosing its own officers, but no intimation is therein given as to the number, appellation or from whence they shall be chosen.

It is therefore taken as settled that this House may choose any person, whether a member of this House or not, to fill any office by it created.

By the nineteenth section of the fifth article, it appears to be assumed that the House will have an officer called Speaker.

The same section intimates that his, the Speaker's compensation may be different from that of the members, but it does not, in fact, settle the point that it shall be more, or shall be less; or that it shall not be the very same. But admit the full force of the intimation, that it may be a different compensation, and further, that it will be greater, does it legitimately follow—is there the slightest intimation any where, that his compensation, if he be a member, shall or may ever exceed that fixed by the eighteenth section of the article as the highest compensation that any member shall ever receive, to wit : three dollars per day.

Now the Speaker is, or he is not, a member of this House. If he be not, then it is admitted he may be allowed compensation without stint. But if he be a member, and we as judges of the qualifications and elections of members, adjudged him one, and in our hearing and presence he took and subscribed the oath of office as such, and has not taken any other. And further, by the rules of our House he is allowed, nay compelled, to vote as such. How is it then, it may well be asked, that this House, in fixing his compensation at six dollars a day, virtually said that he is not a member, for a member's compensation, says the eighteenth section alluded to, shall never exceed three dollars per day. The undersigned now takes for granted, that he is a member, although called Speaker, and that this House has no more right to treat him as two, where compensation is concerned, than where voting in this House is concerned ; or than it has to treat any member whom the Speaker shall call to the chair in the House, or any member who on a given day shall act as chairman in committee of the whole. This House has, by its rules, fixed and settled his duties and they are different from those of the other members, (not more arduous,) and the same rules fix the duties to a greater or less extent of other members, and their duties also differ from one another. If it be asked how is the intimation in the nineteenth section alluded to, intimating that the Speaker's compensation shall be greater than that of a member's, to be reconciled with the distinct and positive prohibition contained in the eighteenth section of the fourth article, of any member's compensation ever exceeding three dollars per day. If it were settled in the latter section, that the members should receive the full sum of three dollars per day and never any more or less, it could not be reconciled. A doubt might then, perhaps, arise, (the intimation in the one being incompatible with the prohibition in the other,) whether the intimation that he may or shall have a greater compensation, did not destroy the distinctly expressed inhibition, to wit : that he shall never be allowed a greater sum. Fortunately, however, such is not the tenor of the two sections alluded to. On the contrary, the eighteenth section very distinctly intimates that the pay of members will be fixed at less than three dollars per diem, otherwise why the language ; “but no increase of compensation shall take effect during the term for which the members of either House shall have been elected.” Again, it is worthy of notice that the provision contemplating increase, is immediately followed, as if it were anticipated the compensation would be increased from time to time, by the express inhibition already quoted ; “such compensation (however often, or however much it may be increased,) shall never exceed three dollars per day.” Thus it will be seen, that neither section need be infringed. But it will be urged that the constitutions of other states have similar clauses therein, and that the legislatures of those states, have established the precedent, by adopting the practice here contended against.

It may be further urged, that the framers of the constitution now under discussion, anticipated, nay, actually calculated that the Speaker, although a member of the House, might and would be allowed six dollars per day, or even a greater sum, the prohibition in the constitution to the contrary notwithstanding. And further, that all the Legislatures that have ever assembled under it have taken the same view of it, or followed the precedent of the Legislatures of other States. Does it then necessarily follow that such interpretation is right—is the correct one ?

What did the makers of the Constitution know of the precedents of other state Legislatures ? What did they know of the opinion of Legislatures not then elected ? What did they know of the views of the framers of the instrument itself ? Does the journal of that convention show any intimation that the word “member” did, and should not mean a member ? The answer necessarily involves the inquiry, who made the constitution ? A convention of delegates chosen by the people framed it ; but who made it ? It was the people—the sovereign people, who breathed into it the breath of life. How did the people, the sovereigns, when their servants, the framers, submitted it to them for their inspection to enable them to judge whether it would be expedient, to give existence to the lifeless corpse, nor not understand it? Did they understand it as it read, or did they understand it as it did not read? Did they weigh and measure the words and sentences one by one as they were plainly spread before them? Did not they adopt the words and sentences in their plain proper signification?—did they intend that their servants, thereby created should construe it in accordance with republican principles, strictly? or did they, instead thereof weigh the precedents of other states and the views of Legislatures not then assembled? What was it that decided them to adopt it as their own words and will? The undersigned, from a solemn sense of duty must dissent from, and protest against any other construction being put upon that sacred bulwark of the people's liberty, than that the makers put upon it—the strict one, as any other would be, in his humble judgment, injurious to the public—a fraud upon our masters.

He now respectfully requests that his reasons for thus dissenting be entered upon the journal.

THOMAS J. RICE.

PETITIONS.

By Mr. Rix. Of 144 inhabitants of St. Clair county, for a division of the said county. Referred to the committee on towns and counties.

By Mr. ————— Of inhabitants of the counties of Wayne and Monroe, for setting off a new county. Referred to same committee.

By Mr. Rix. A remonstrance of 184 inhabitants of the county of St. Clair, against the removal of the seat of justice of said county. Referred to same committee.

Mr. Mr. Rix. Remonstrance of 218 names against a division of St. Clair county. Referred to same committee.

REPORTS.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, made the following reports, which were severally accepted :

Your committee on the judiciary, have had under consideration the expediency of so amending the act entitled "an act to prescribe the powers and duties of justices of the peace in civil proceedings," as to allow justices of the peace to close up all business commenced previous to the expiration of their office, and report that the same would be in their opinion, inexpedient in policy and highly mischievous in practice, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Your committee on the judiciary have also had under consideration, the expediency of authorizing one justice to hold a court of special sessions in all cases where a jury is called for by the criminal, and ask leave to report that in their opinion the same would be inexpedient, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Your committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of the county of Oakland, praying for the passage of a law authorizing the board of supervisors in each of the counties in this State to fix the amount to be received by the register of deeds, county clerk, county treasurer and prosecuting attorney, and requiring said officers respectively to pay into the county treasury, the surplus of their fees as established by law, have had the subject under consideration, and have come to the conclusion that the evil complained of cannot be successfully remedied in the mode prescribed. From motives of general policy your committee believe that sufficient inducements ought to be placed before the various county officers to afford every facility to the public in the transaction of business appropriately within the sphere of said officers respectively and also for the detection and punishment of crime, and the protection of property and life. Believing that those services would not be as promptly and efficiently rendered, after the sum fixed by the supervisors had been realized by the officer, and also believing that still greater evils would arise in practice, in ascertaining and compelling payment into the treasury of any surplus moneys ; your committee are induced to think that the desired remedy can better be found in some modification of the existing law bill. Your committee therefore feel constrained to report adverse to the prayer of the petitioners and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the matter.

Mr. Bush from the committee on banks and incorporations, made the following report, which was accepted :

The committee upon banks and incorporations, to whom was referred the petition of Elijah H. Pilcher, in behalf of the Michigan Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, have had the same under consideration, and after a careful examination of the entire subject matter, have come to the unanimous conclusion that the law contained in the revised statutes, covers the entire ground, except that of giving to a justice of the peace, or other officer, jurisdiction to try and convict persons charged with certain offences enumerated by said petitioner ; which matter, by resolution, has been referred to the committee on the judiciary, to whom it more appropriately belongs, who will undoubtedly give the matter a fair investigation, and determine in the premises as justice shall require. And your committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Lothrop from the committee on engrossment and enrolment, reported that they had examined "an act for the destruction of treasury notes, and for other purposes ;" also, a "joint resolution of instruction relative to the importation of railroad iron," and found the same correctly enrolled, and presented the same to the Governor for his approval.

Mr. Younglove obtained leave, pursuant to notice, to introduce the following entitled bills, which were referred to the committee on the judiciary :

A bill for the relief of prisoners on the jail limits.

A bill to amend an act entitled "an act relative to the conveyance of real estate."

REPORTS.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the petition of the heirs at law of Hervey Bliss, deceased, late of the county of Lenawee, praying for the passage of an act empowering William W. Bliss, administrator of, &c. of the said Hervey Bliss, deceased, to convey to the contractors thereof certain real estate in said petition specified, reported a bill entitled "an act authorizing William W. Bliss, administrator of, &c. of Hervey Bliss, deceased, to convey certain real estate," and said bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the same committee, to whom was referred the Senate bill entitled an act to amend an act entitled "an act to abolish imprisonment for debt and to punish fraudulent debtors," have had the same under consideration, and as the result of their deliberations, would submit the following report :

That whilst they regard with the liveliest emotions of pleasure the wise and humane provisions of the act to abolish imprisonment for debt, they are of the opinion that the final enactments of said bill are equally conducive to the best interests of our citizens. They cannot therefore look with favor upon any law, the provisions of which virtually repeal all the penal sections of said non-imprisonment act. Your committee are of the opinion that the operation of the law so referred to them would be unjust and oppressive upon the innocent creditor. It is in effect to punish the informer, and let the criminal escape. At the moment of full committal upon ample testimony, the worthless vagabond who has perchance thus far gained a livelihood by preying upon the credulous, and defrauding the upright and unsuspecting citizen may, by a simple affidavit of inability to support himself, open again the door of his prison and sally forth for new adventures in crime ; unless the innocent creditor who has been fleeced and perhaps ruined by the fraud of the debtor shall step forward and pay the expense of punishing the criminal. Your committee can take no other view of what would be the practical operation of this law, and feel constrained therefore to report adverse to the same, and pray to be discharged from its further consideration.

And the report was accepted and the committee discharged from further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Goodwin laid the following memorial and resolutions on the table :

The memorial of the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows to the Congress of the United States :

• That the voice of the people of every part of the state, calling upon their representatives to act upon a subject of great individual and national importance, induces us to make this appeal. The disastrous storms of the last fall, by the great loss of lives, and immense destruction of property attending them, have shown in a language not to be disregarded, the necessity of immediately adopting efficient means for the safety of the lives and security of the property of those who are interested in the commerce of the upper lakes, by the improvement of their harbors, by finishing the survey and demarkation of the coast, and by the erection of additional light houses.

In appealing to congress for these improvements, we urge alike the claims of justice and humanity, prudence and economy ; and we appeal to facts in support of our application.

The settlement of the country around lake Michigan, and the navigation of that lake in 1834, were in their infancy. Since that period so rapid has been the increase of business on the Upper lakes, that the imports and exports passing Detroit for 1842, amount to the enormous sum of twenty-eight millions of dollars.

Between Detroit and the head of Lake Michigan, there is no harbor except at Presque Isle. That is naturally accessible and at all times safe. Some protection may be found against storms under the lee of Islands or in bays, but in such cases a sudden change of wind often endangers or wholly destroys the shipping, instead of affording protection. The harbor improvements already begun are in an unfinished state, and if finished, are so few and spread along so small a portion of the coast, as to afford no adequate protection to the great and rapidly increasing commerce of the Upper lakes.

The sail and steam shipping employed in this business in 1841, amounted to $1,300,000, and in 1842 to over $1,700,000, making an aggregate of nearly $30,000,000 of shipping and freight annually exposed to all the dangers of a coast of more than seven hundred miles, with but one safe and easily accessible harbor. Since 1834, the average number of vessels lost on Lake Michigan per annum, is twelve, and the average number of lives fifteen, and the average value of property within a fraction of $140,000. Twenty-eight vessels, twenty-five lives and $145,500 of property were lost in 1841, and more than $200,000 of property in 1842. And these immense losses were occasioned mainly, by a want of light houses, and good harbors.

This large amount of business in imports and exports results from the productive labor of Wisconsin, a part of Illinois, Indiana and Michigan. These states, in 1840, produced in manufactured and unmanufactured products at a low cash valuation $44,246 61, which amount has since increased nearly fifty per cent.

The full extent of the losses of lives and property in November last, is not yet determined. Enough however, is known to fill the country with sorrow and mourning. The story of the ill-fated Milwaukee, the best ship on the lakes, in perfect repair, driven ashore and destroyed, and nine out of her fifteen men frozen to death, at the mouth of the Kalamazoo, within a few rods of one of the best harbors on earth, will not be easily forgotten. One-fifth part of the property which has been lost within cannon shot of that place, would so improve the entrance of the harbor as to render it perfectly safe.

In the short space of nine years, $1,265,650 of property are known to have been lost on Lake Michigan. A moiety of this sum would have built sufficient lighthouses and rendered every harbor on the lake easily accessible and perfectly safe.

These great and continual losses of produce and merchandize, are deeply felt by the citizens of this state, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, as well as by New-York, and all New-England, and the great loss of shipping is felt by Ohio, Pennsylvania and New-York, in common with the western states.

We urge these considerations upon the attention of our national legislature, and appeal to the justice and humanity of every member of Congress to aid in this great national improvement. Are the correctness of our statements denied? We ask all who doubt them, to open the Topographical Bureau of the nation, where they will find them fully confirmed. Is the the importance of this denied? We ask if the annual hazard of 30,000,000 of commerce, and the annual loss of $200,000 are of no importance? Is the impossibility of making these improvements urged ? We again appeal to the clear wisdom to be found in surveys of the Topographical Bureau for a refutation of this objection. Is the policy of surveying our coast and lighting and improving our harbors doubted ? We ask, upon what principle of policy or justice can the expenditures of millions on the comparatively safe harbors of our sea coast be made, when an investment equal to the annual loss would render the increasing commerce of the Upper lakes comparatively safe ? And we ask what avails the labor of all who are carrying on this thirty millions of commerce, if all its profits are to be lost by an unimproved and dangerous navigation ?

The inhabitants of the west bought their lands of the United States, and have improved and created upon them wealth and capital, with the faith of the nation pledged, if not in terms, yet by immemorial custom, that when their condition should require it, commercial facilities should be afforded to make their purchases and their labor available. The people have performed their part—their money and their industry have enriched the nation—and are they now to be told that the plighted faith of the nation is a mere bugbear of which our industrious people are the dupes ?

We invite the especial attention of congress immediately to the improvement of the Muskegon, then the Grand River, and the Kalamazoo—the further improvement of the St. Joseph, the improvement of the New-Buffalo, Michigan City, Chicago, Racine and Milwaukee harbors, and the erection of a lighthouse at Wawgooshance point, where three vessels have been lost within eighteen months—and also at the mouth of Grand River. These harbors and lighthouses are of paramount importance.

Next to these are the improvement of the harbor at Monroe ; so also of the flats of the St. Clair and at Saginaw, all of which can be done at a small expense and are in the route of the western trade.

There is also a bar across lake George in the St. Mary's river, which can be so improved at a small expense, as to open a free navigation to the village of St. Mary for large boats, which would then bring from that part about a quarter of a million per annum.

For all these purposes an annual appropriation for two years of $200,000 would be abundant and would save to the commerce of the U. States the whole amount in less than five years.

We need not here urge upon the attention of congress the fact that all these harbors, in case of a border war, are absolutely required for the safety of national shipping, and army supplies. Nor need we say to the observant that in such a war the ascendancy of the Lakes will assuredly be decided on Lake Michigan or Huron, between American shipping and a fleet which will be armed for the purpose in the inner harbors of Lake Huron under the protection of British fortifications. No longer will Lake Erie be the scene of contention. But the clear waters of Lake Michigan, never yet stained with the blood of human strife, in case of another war, will become the scene of contention. Then may new laurels be added to the escutcheon of our glory, by achievements as brilliant and victories as decisive as those of the illustrious Perry.

We therefore earnestly solicit the appropriations, and invite all the States who are interested to co-operate with us—believing as we do, that this application rests upon the soundest principles of policy and justice.

Resolved, (the Senate concurring,) That the Governor be requested to transmit two copies of the memorial to each of the Governors of the states of New-York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and the territory of Wisconsin, and ask their aid and co-operation, and that the same be laid before their respective legislatures.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State transmit a copy of this memorial to the Secretary of War, to Col. J. J. Abert, of the Topographical department at Washington, and each of the members of Congress from the states aforesaid.

Mr. Rice pursuant to notice, obtained leave to introduce a bill to amend section 21, chapter 2, title 3, part 1st, and also, section 20,

REPORTS.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the petition of sundry citizens of the county of Kalamazoo, that the constitution of this state may be amended by expunging from the second article thereof the word "white;" and to whom was also referred the petition of sundry colored inhabitants of the city of Detroit, praying for the same amendment, to the end that they might enjoy the privilege of the elective franchise, would respectfully report :

That they have endeavored carefully and impartially to examine the subject matter of the petitions, and that a report adverse to the prayer thereof, is the result of their settled convictions of duty. Your committee are neither the advocates of slavery nor the apologists of oppression. But whilst they are disposed "to stand from under" the institution of slavery in the southern, they would as sedulously avoid the modern Utopian scheme of social equality and marital amalgamation in the northern states of the Union. Your committee are inclined to accord in the views of Thomas Jefferson when he says, that, "nothing is more clearly written in the book of destiny than the emancipation of the blacks; and it is equally certain that the two races will never live in a state of equal freedom under the same government, so insurmountable are the barriers which nature, habit and opinions have established between them."

But your committee do not feel at liberty, within the limits of a business report, to state in detail the reasons that have induced the above conclusion. They can only glance at the necessary connexion between civil liberty and intelligence. That the votes of the ignorant will ever receive an aristocratic direction ; that the introduction of a few such votes in a township, may reach to and control the political destinies of the state and nation ; and that should the proposed amendment be adopted, Michigan, from her peculiar position, would ere long, become the hiding place of numerous refugee slaves.

Your committee may be permitted, however, without trespassing too far upon the rules of propriety, to present a single view of the case with the unavoidable consequences that must succeed the adoption of such amendment.

The framers of the organic law of Michigan took their position upon the very foundations of society. All vested rights, and all personal privileges and immunities heretofore claimed or conceded, were scattered in masses around them. Thence they drew the elements of government ; embodied them in a constitution which was submitted to, and adopted by the people. That constitution should not be altered, amended or modified except in case of prime necessity, and even then the hand of innovation should never be permitted to soil its purity, or mar its symmetry. It is now a most perfect system of correlative rights and duties. And yet the petitioners seek to confer its choicest boon upon a class of men who by no law of the state can be enrolled or compelled to perform military duty in its defence. But farther, the amendment sought to be made, would place the elective franchise within the reach of another class of men ; men who have never acknowledged allegiance either to the form or spirit of our government ; men who brandished the blood-dripping tomahawk over the slaughtered American with fiendish delight, during the late war, and yet could walk abroad at its conclusion, reckless of treason's demerit, and unscathed by a traitor's punishment. From such a consummation, your committee would shield their state by reporting adversely, and pray to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the Senate "bill in relation to the fire department and firemen of the incorporated cities and villages of this state," reported the same back with amendments, and the same was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the bill entitled an act to amend part 4th, title 1st, chapter 8th of the revised statutes relative to adultery and fornication, have had the same under consideration, and, after mature deliberation, from a sense of public justice, feel constrained to report said bill back to the House, with a recommendation that it do not pass.

And said bill and report were referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the petition of sundry inhabitants of Saline, in the county of Washtenaw, praying for the unconditional repeal of the act to provide for the transfer of real estate on execution and for other purposes, passed Feb. 17, 1842, and the act to exempt certain property from execution or sale, &c., passed Feb. 13, 1842, having fully considered said petition, would respectfully report, that, in the view of your committee, the prayer of said petitioners ought not to be granted. Your committee are inclined to the opinion, that the petitioners constitute a portion of an inconsiderable minority of the citizens of Michigan; that the great mass of the people regard with approval the passage and the practical operation of the laws above referred to, and are decidedly opposed to their repeal. Your committee are happy to state that, in the views of that majority, they fully coincide, and believe that, by some comparatively slight amendments of said laws, they will subserve the interests of the people, and place the system of credit upon the healthful basis of personal integrity.

Your committee, therefore, report adverse to the prayer of the petitioners, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

And the report was accepted and laid upon the table.

Mr. Moore from the committee on roads and bridges, to whom was referred the bill entitled an act to authorize Royal C. Ripley to build a dam across the Cass river, in the county of Tuscola, reported the same back to the House, and said bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Schoolcraft from the committee on federal relations, to whom was referred a resolution concerning a treaty lately negotiated between the United States and a portion of the Chippewa tribe of Indians, for the relinquishment of their right to the soil within the limits of the state of Michigan, have had the matter under consideration, and ask leave to submit the following report :

Two years ago, an appropriation was made by Congress to defray the expenses of negotiating a treaty for the extinction of the Indian titles to the lands which were then in their possession and occupancy in the state of Michigan. These lands were situated in the Upper Peninsula of the state, on the borders of Lake Superior, as well as in the interior of that section of country. It was, and is, at all times, desirable to remove the Indian population from the states of this Union. Their peace and early settlement and cultivation, are best secured by that policy. It cannot, while any considerable body of Indians remain in a state, be expected that any number of emigrants will give up their peaceable and undisturbed homes in the old settled sections of the Union, and hazard their safety, and that of their families, in the effort to establish their residences in a new territory, in the midst of savages, exposed to the tomahawk and scalping knife, and to some Indian depredations.

For several years heretofore, propositions were urged in Congress, having in view the early purchase of the lands occupied by the Chippewas in this state : when, at length, an appropriation for this purpose was effected, it was anticipated that a negotiation would immediately be set on foot to accomplish the object. Instead of this, nearly two years were permitted to elapse before any effectual attempt to hold a treaty was made. When, finally, a treaty was negotiated, it was hoped that it would contain no provision calculated to retard the settlement and population, by white and civilized men, of the large tract of country, amounting to eight millions of acres, lying within the limits of our state, and purchased of the Indians residing thereon. But your committee have learned with regret that the treaty in question contains a stipulation to the effect, that the right of hunting and deer privilege of occupancy on the ceded lands, are reserved to the Indians until they are required by the President to remove, and that the laws of the United States, in respect to trade and intercourse with the Indian tribes, shall continue in force within the territory until otherwise ordered by Congress.

The committee do not search for the accuracy of the rumor that a stipulation of this precise nature is embraced in the treaty. With a view to ascertain its reality or not, they respectfully sought information from the negotiator. They were told, however, that they had no absolute right to know more than was disclosed by one of any portion of the contents of the treaty. But the demand was peculiarly negotiated. The stipulation has been removed from the treaty ground. The negotiator himself had exposed its nature to the inspection of at least one branch of the state government, and the committee supposed that no objection could exist under these circumstances to a communication to them, and to this House, of the substance of the treaty. They were mistaken. A refusal of the information sought by them, was the result. But the committee, nevertheless, believe that they have, with some degree of precision, described the provisions in the treaty, which they consider liable to the decided disapprobation of the people of Michigan. That stipulation leaves it to the discretion and good pleasure of the President, when, at what period, near or remote, the Chippewas shall remove from the lands which they have heretofore occupied in Michigan. They may, if he choose, continue there for years, and the eight millions of territory purchased from them, and, in the meantime as likely to remain unsettled and uncultivated by civilized men as if the treaty had not been made. If the laws of the United States in respect to treaties and intercourse with the Indian tribes, be of a general nature, as the committee apprehend they are, and if they are binding and obligatory on the states whose jurisdiction is co-extensive with their boundaries, then any stipulation, expressly applying them to any portion of the territory within the limits of Michigan was altogether superfluous. If, on the other hand, the provision in the treaty had in view an occult object; if, under the pretext of protecting the morals and habits of the Indians, its real purpose was to prevent the citizens of Michigan from going into the purchased country and examining its soil and land with the intention of a final settlement upon them; if, in a word, it were designed by this stipulation in the treaty, to secure to the American Fur company a continual monopoly in the fur trade with that tribe, and the supplies of goods and other articles to them, then the stipulation is not only superfluous, but obnoxious to the unqualified condemnation of the people of Michigan.

It is not unusual for the Senate of the United States, in the ratification of Indian treaties, to propose alterations in some of their articles; and these alterations amount to a law to the Indians. They are always, with very rare exceptions indeed, acquiesced in by the tribe to whom they are proposed.

In view of these circumstances, and for the considerations briefly suggested in this report, the committee submit the following joint resolution, which may have the effect of causing the objectionable article in the treaty to be stricken out, while it cannot prevent the ratification of all its beneficial provisions.

J. L. SCHOOLCRAFT,

In behalf of the committee.

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That our Senators in Congress be, and they are hereby instructed to use their exertions in the ratification of the treaty lately negotiated with the Chippewa tribe of Indians residing in a part of this state, to cause to be expunged therefrom any article in said treaty which may stipulate for the continued occupancy, (during the pleasure of the President,) of the territory ceded by them to the United States ; or which may provide that the laws of the U. States, in respect to trade and intercourse with the Indian tribes, shall be especially applicable to the territory acquired under this treaty, and continue in force therein until otherwise ordered by congress.

Resolved, That the Governor be requested to forward a copy of the above resolution to each of our Senators in congress.

And the rules were suspended and the resolution adopted.

Mr. Lacey pursuant to notice obtained leave to introduce a bill to reduce the compensation allowed to associate judges of the circuit court, which bill was referred to the committee on the judiciary.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the Senate bill to provide for the disposition of prisoners in certain cases therein specified, reported the same to the House without amendment and recommended its passage.

Mr. McLeod from the select committee to whom was referred so much of the Governor's message as relates to the election of members of congress, reported a bill to divide the state into congressional districts, which was laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Andrews from the committee on elections, to whom was referred several joint resolutions instructing them to inquire into the expediency of amending the fourth section of the fourth article of the constitution of this state, so as to allow the representatives of the legislature to be chosen on the first Monday of November, annually, would respectfully report, that they have had the same under consideration, and are of the opinion that the amendment contain-plated in the resolutions, is a very important one, practicable in its operation and of great pecuniary advantage in its results, making a very important item in the saving of time and money annually to the citizens of this state.

Your committee have no hesitation in saying that, in their opinion, the proposed amendment will meet the entire views and receive the hearty response of a large majority of the people, when it shall be submitted to them for their approval. Your committee are also of the opinion that the districting of large and densely populated towns will entirely obviate any apprehensions that may be felt, and secure to every citizen the inestimable privilege of the elective franchise, without abridging, or in any way violating the rights of any portion of the electors of this state.

Your committee would, therefore, respectfully report the same back and recommend the adoption of the first and second resolutions, as embracing the whole matter, with the following amendments to the first, to wit: After the word "the" in the second line, insert the words, "fourth section;" strike out "on," after the word "Monday," in the sixth line and insert the word "and" and respectfully ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Lothrop from the committee on enrollment and engrossment had examined and found correctly enrolled "an act to provide for the pay of members and officers of the Legislature for the year 1843." Also, "an act to amend an act to incorporate the village of Grand Rapids," and have presented both acts to the Governor for his approval.

The Speaker announced a communication from the board of supervisors of the county of Wayne, which was referred to the committee on the judiciary.

REPORTS.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the bill to amend sec. 21, chap. 3, title 3, part one of the revised statutes, (page 42,) touching bond of county treasurer; also, to amend sec. 20, chap. 3, title 6, part one, (page 119) of said statutes, relative to the account to be rendered by overseers of highways, reported the same back with amendments, and the same was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Anderson, from the standing committee on the organization of towns and counties, to whom was referred the petitions of sundry citizens of the counties of Wayne and Monroe, praying for the organization of a new county within the limits of said counties, have instructed their chairman to report, that they have had said petitions under consideration, and after an examination and review of the whole matter, have been led to adopt the conclusion that the prayer of the petitioners ought not to be granted.

Among the many reasons which have induced the committee to come to this conclusion, they would mention two, which, in the judgment of your committee, are conclusive. The first is, that under the arrangement asked for by the petitioners, the county of Wayne would be reduced to a number of square miles less than the minimum required by the constitution; and the second is, that the county of Wayne would be left in an inconvenient and improper shape, being about 35 miles in length and 12 miles in width.

In addition to these difficulties, the committee would state that the notice required to be given by section 4, chapter second, part first of the revised statutes, does not appear to have been given. In view of which facts, the committee report adversely to the prayer of the petitioners and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

The Speaker announced the following messages from the executive, by Mr. J. M. Welch, his private secretary :

On motion, the House then adjourned.

WEDNESDAY, January 18, 1848.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

The Journal of yesterday was read and approved.

PETITIONS.

By Mr. Andrews. Of E. L. Barret and others, to change the name of Maria Eliza Barret, to that of Maria Elizabeth Livermore. Referred to committee on the judiciary.

By Mr. Younglove. Claim of James Q. Adams. Referred to the committee on claims.

Mr. Goodwin from the committee on ways and means, to whom was referred the petition of C. Chapel, reported the same back, and on his motion it was referred to the committee on claims.

REPORTS.

Mr. Moore from the committee on roads and bridges, to whom was referred the petitions of sundry inhabitants relative to certain state roads, reported a bill entitled "an act to provide for laying out certain state roads," which bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the petition of the superintendents of the poor of the county of Wayne, praying for an amendment of the poor laws, so far as relates to a Justice of the Peace drawing an order on the county treasurer for temporary relief, and requiring in lieu thereof, the directors of the poor to make the requisite advances and have their accounts audited by the superintendents of the poor, having considered the same, would report adverse to the prayer of the petitions, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

And the committee were discharged accordingly.

Mr. Littlejohn from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the memorial of the board of supervisors of the county of Wayne, praying that the judicial duties of the associate judges may be confined to an attendance on the court of criminal jurisdiction, and that their per diem allowance when thus employed may be reduced, would report that as to so much of said memorial as prays that the attendance of said associate judges may be confined to the court of criminal jurisdiction, the committee would deem the proposed amendment inexpedient; as to the other relief sought the committee would report thereon in connexion with a bill to them also referred, entitled "an act to reduce the compensation allowed to associate judges of the circuit court," which the committee would report back to the House with amendments thereto.

And the same was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Lothrop from the committee on internal improvement, to whom was referred the petition of 61 inhabitants of Van Buren county, asking an appropriation to aid in opening a state road from Schoolcraft, in the county of Kalamazoo, to St. Joseph, in Berrien county, had the same under consideration, and reported that

The object of the prayer of the petitioners might well be worthy of the attention of the legislature and call upon them for an appropriation to aid in opening a road which would be of great benefit to the citizens of the county. But as the legislature is not a local body, its finances and resources of the state constitutionally would not be appropriated of money on any local object when the revenue to be de-arrived, will in all human probability, be equal to, or, more than the yearly interest on such expenditure. As the state cannot expect any revenue from an expenditure on the route, mentioned in the petition, your committee are of the opinion that it is inexpedient to grant the aid prayed for, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

And the committee were accordingly discharged.

Mr. Goodwin from the committee of ways and means, to whom was referred the petition of John F. Hamlin and others, contractors on the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal, report, that in their opinion all contracts made by the commissioners of internal improvement, beyond the amount of the appropriation to the work contracted, are unauthorized by law, and in no way binding upon the state.

In the present case, there may be justice in the petitioner's claim, and your committee would not willingly act in such a manner as to injure an individual.

They therefore ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the petition, and that it be referred to the committee on internal improvement, with instructions to provide for so much thereof, as on examination they find just, by an appropriation to be paid in the same manner as other contractors on the works of internal improvement are paid.

And the petition was referred in accordance with the recommendation, to the committee on internal improvement.

Mr. Littlejohn, pursuant to notice, obtained leave to introduce a bill to incorporate the Allegan Academy, which was referred to the committee on banks and incorporations.

Mr. McLeod from the select committee on so much of the Governor's message as relates to the law of congress requiring the states to elect by districts, made a report thereon which was ordered to be printed.

REPORTS.

Mr. Gage, from the committee on banks and incorporations, to whom was referred a bill entitled "an act to incorporate the Allegan Academy," having had the same under consideration, reported the same back without amendment and recommended its passage.

And said bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Anderson, from the standing committee on the organization of towns and counties, to whom was referred sundry petitions of the citizens of the county of Hillsdale, asking for the removal of the seat of justice of said county to the village of Hillsdale, and also sundry remonstrances against said removal, reported that

A careful examination of all the papers and facts connected with the application and remonstrance has satisfied the committee that the removal of the seat of justice of said county to the village of Hillsdale is demanded, not only by a large majority of the citizens of the county, but by every consideration of justice, expediency and right.

The petitions, presented to the legislature and referred to the committee, contain the names of eleven hundred and thirty-four (1134) citizens of the county of Hillsdale in favor of the removal, and the remonstrances contain the names of four hundred and forty-two (442) citizens against such removal. The wishes of over nine-tenths of the electors of the county have thereby been made known to the legislature and show a very large majority in favor of the removal.

Aside from so decided an expression of the feelings of the citizens of the county, the committee would state that the village of Hillsdale is, from its central location, the best calculated to accommodate the citizens of the county, and that its business facilities and prospects render it a point most convenient and best adapted to concentrate the trade and intercourse of the surrounding country.

The committee also believe it to be for the best interests of the county, that the county seat should be permanently located in compliance with the wishes of the majority. The county of Hillsdale is now the eighth county in the state in point of population and wealth, and her citizens, in reason and justice, ask and expect a settlement of a vexed and agitating question.

Paying due deference therefore to the emphatic expression of those most directly interested in this matter, and believing the location asked for to be the most suitable and convenient; the committee have instructed their chairman to introduce a bill entitled "an act to vacate the present seat of justice of the county of Hillsdale, and to establish the same at the village of Hillsdale;" which bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on enrolment, reported the following entitled bill as correctly enrolled: "An act to authorize the payment of interest on the delinquent tax stock of this state;" and that the same was this day presented to the Governor for his signature.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the majority of the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the "bill relative to the sale of real estate on execution, and for other purposes," having had the same under consideration, and believing that the objects aimed at by the bill could be fully attained by engrafting some of its leading features upon the existing transfer bill, with other amendments thereto, would report the same back with a substitute therefor.

And said bill and substitute were, on motion of Mr. Bush, laid up on the table.

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on printing, reported a proposition of G. F. Rood & Co., to do the binding of journals and documents, which was referred for consideration when the House should have that subject before them.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the Senate bill to amend an act entitled "an act to exempt certain property from execution or sale for any debt, damages, fine or amercement," approved February 16, 1842, reported the same back with an amendment, and it was referred to the committee of the whole.

NOTICES.

Mr. Rice gave notice that he will at an early day ask leave to introduce a bill to amend an act entitled "an act to provide for the assessment and collection of taxes," approved 16th February, 1842, (page 85,) and also to a "bill to amend an act entitled "an act to provide for the transfer of real estate on execution and for other purposes," approved 17th February, 1842, (page 135.)

Mr. Carpenter gave notice that at a future day he will ask leave to introduce a "bill to prevent counties from becoming chargeable for the support of prisoners confined in the county jails, under the act to abolish imprisonment for debt and to punish fraudulent debtors."

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on printing, asked and obtained leave to amend his report of yesterday, by inserting in the proposals of S. McKnight, that he proposes furnishing the laws gratuitously to the county clerks of the several counties, in his daily paper.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

On motion of Mr. Lothrop,

The House resolved itself into committee of the whole on the unfinished business, being the "bill to regulate the collection of taxes for the year 1843, and for other purposes," Mr. Mottram in the chair.

After going through the same, the committee rose and reported the same back with sundry amendments, which were concurred in by the House, and the yeas and nays being taken on striking out the 20th section, the same prevailed by the following vote:

Yeas—Messrs. Anderson, Andrews, Axford, Barnard, Cady, J. L. Gage, Godfrey, Lacey, Lothrop, Littlejohn, Livermore, McCamly, McLeod, Mottram, Murray, Olds, Rice, Rix, Vaughn, Vickery, Videto, Waldron, Younglove, Speaker—24.

Mr. Livermore asked for and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Lawrence until to-morrow.

REPORTS.

Mr. Lacey from the committee on ways and means, to whom was referred the petition of sundry inhabitants of the county of St. Clair, asking the Legislature to make provision for a fit and proper person to be sent to New-York, whose business it should be to encourage the settlement of foreign emigrants in this state, and recommending Mr. Louis Rendt, of Port Huron, as said agent, have instructed the undersigned to report the same back to the House, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

But the undersigned would not think he had discharged his duty, if he did not call the attention of the House to the proposed measure.

The petitioners state that there are yearly a great number of emigrants arriving in the United States from Europe, and that very few of them come to reside in this state ; that there are persons who, on the arrival of emigrants in New-York, take an active part in persuading them to settle in other states and territories, and who speak to them in terms of great disparagement of this state ; and that on the arrival of an emigrating party in Buffalo, they are induced by the interested representation of forwarding merchants and steam-boat owners to continue their route west, to the end of navigation on the Lakes.

The undersigned believes that these statements of the petitioners are substantially true, and that the interests of the people of the state of Michigan suffer accordingly.

The undersigned believes that nothing would so speedily bring a return of what is called "good times" to this state as a rapid emigration into it of industrious and intelligent settlers. How has it been heretofore? The undersigned would not be understood to allude to the times of '85, '86 and '87, but to those far more prosperous years which preceded the era of speculation, when, in the early settlement of the country, population advanced steadily and rapidly. There was at that time no superabundance of money afloat in the world—none of the causes were in operation which are fallaciously looked to as the means of bringing "good times." But the state received steady and constant accessions to its numbers. The undersigned well remembers those days. He desires nothing so much as to see a return of them. But he has no hesitation in expressing it as his opinion that with the best directed energies of our people and our government, years and years must roll around before any sensible amelioration of our condition is felt, unless the tide of emigration is again directed to our shores.

With these views, the undersigned, for the purpose of testing the opinions of the House, will, at the proper time, move a resolution on the subject referred to.

O. P. LACEY.

And the report was accepted and the committee discharged.

Mr. Bush, from the majority of the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred a bill introduced, on leave, by Mr. McLeod, of Mackinac, "providing for the transfer of real estate on execution, and for other purposes," which was referred to the committee of the whole and ordered to be printed, together with the substitute for said bill now lying upon the table.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Michigan, That each member of the federal compact possesses all the attributes of sovereignty not thereby ceded to the government of the U. S., and that the reciprocal rights and duties of each are to be measured by such cessions and their resulting consequences.

Resolved, That in the use of the word "cession" implying to yield, a strict construction should be given to it, so that no collision may arise to mar the harmony of the system.

Resolved, That it is alike the duty and the right of each of the states to elect members to Congress, and that while they do so, a resort to the concession made only to enable the general government to save itself from dissolution, cannot be had, and if had is unconstitutional and void.

Resolved, That this state has always maintained its faith to the federal union in this respect, by electing members to congress, and that the alternative has never been presented, in which congress could rightfully interfere in any respect with such election.

Therefore resolved, That the law of congress of the last session, requiring the states to elect members of congress by districts if the same were not inoperative in its very terms, is an unjustifiable assumption of power not granted to congress by the true intent and meaning of the constitution.

Resolved, That in the exercise of all its powers the state of Michigan is a sovereign and independent state, and that any attempt to coerce her into any measure, is an invasion of that sovereignty to which she will never submit.

REPORTS

Mr. Videto, from the joint committee appointed to examine and report the condition of the penitentiary, made a report in detail, which was laid on the table and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Goodwin, from the committee on ways and means, to whom was referred the report of the Auditor General in relation to the taxes of 1828, reported: That they have examined the subject in committee with the whole subject of tax collections, and in relation thereto, they desire to make one or two suggestions, and desire that they may be referred to the tax committee, in order that the necessary remedy may be embraced in their action on the tax laws.

The first consideration is this: that in whatever place or manner the taxes may be collected, there should be an ordeal through which they should pass, and if we are to have justice, the law should be fully tested, and all taxes stretched out that have any irregularity in them that would vitiate the tax title.

Of these ordeals hitherto have been the examinations of Auditor Generals before the entry of the tax. So also in the law of last session is the examination of the courts and the tax judgments.

If it be intended hereafter to collect through the Auditor General, his powers and duties should be more fully defined by law. If the county treasurers are to collect, either the system of the last law or some other should be kept up for examining the taxes, and when such examination has been had, it should be prima facie evidence of the correctness of the previous proceedings. Without some such provision all confidence in tax titles, it is believed will soon be lost.

One other consideration we desire to present, and that is, that the Auditor General or county treasurer having charge of land sales, be expressly authorized to withhold from sale for taxes, any lands, where he discovers after the examination aforesaid, that the title to such lands would be bad.

The want of such express provision has led the people of several counties to believe that no taxes of this character could be charged back to them.

Such is one of the cases alluded to in the subject matter before the committee in relation to which they only remark, that it seems to them absurd that the Auditor General should have the power of charging back taxes to the counties with interest and costs after sale, and not have the same power to do so before sale, and thus save the delay and costs.

The revenue of the state will be deeply embarrassed as long as these doubts hang over the subject; for the Auditor General cannot collect these taxes and the counties refuse to reassess them, and in the mean time the collection is held in obedience, either of judicial decisions or legislative action, and as a necessary consequence the treasury is unable to meet the wants of the government.

And the committee were discharged and the reference made to the committee on taxation.

The Speaker announced a communication from the Secretary of State, covering an abstract of the reports of the Superintendents of the poor of the different counties of the state, which was ordered to be printed.

Mr. Pratt, from the committee on enrollment, reported correctly enrolled "an act for the purchase of the session laws of 1840," and that the same was this day presented to the Governor for his signature.

NOTICES.

Mr. Videto gave notice that he will at an early day ask leave to introduce a bill to authorize the superintendent of public instruction to give a certificate of sale of a part of tract of land heretofore sold to Justus H. Cole.

Mr. Lothrop gave notice that on some future day he shall ask leave to bring in a bill to amend the Kalamazoo fire mutual insurance company.

Which motion did not prevail.

The question being taken on Mr. Smith's motion, the same prevailed.

Which motion did not prevail.

Also, to return the bill relating to the fire department and firemen of the incorporated cities or villages of this state, with the House amendments thereto, and to respectfully inform the House that the Senate have concurred therein with an amendment to sec. 8, in which they respectfully ask the concurrence of the House.

Sec'y of Senate.

And said amendments were concurred in by the House.

SENATE CHAMBER,
Friday, January 27, 1843. }

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR—I am instructed by the Senate to respectfully inform the House that Senators Howell, Wakefield and Greenly, have been appointed on the part of the Senate as a committee of conference on the disagreement between the two Houses in relation to the first amendment made by the House to the bill to divide the state into congressional districts and to provide for the election of representatives in congress.

JAS. E. PLATT,
Sec'y of Senate.

Mr. Bush moved that the vote on the passage of the bill to authorize the agent of the state of Indiana to discharge the liabilities to this state of the Detroit and Pontiac railroad company, be reconsidered, and the bill and motion was laid on the table.

Mr. Barnard, from the committee on education, asked and obtained leave to make the following report, which with the bill was ordered to be printed.

Your committee have had under consideration so much of the Governor's message as relates to primary schools, and other papers relating to the same subject. They have examined our present school system, compared it with the system of other and older states, and finding it wanting in many important features, which are necessary and essential to an energetic and efficient system of education. They hold it to be the duty of every free government to provide the means for the moral and intellectual improvement of all its subjects. The constitution of this state makes it the imperative duty of the legislature to provide those means, and make them accessible to all. Your committee believe that direct taxation to a limited extent must form the basis of any school system, not supported entirely by a fund, if you would make it uniform in its action, and universal in its application. With view to a revision of the laws, in obedience to the suggestions of the Executive, the demand of the people, and their own conviction of its imperious necessity, your committee have instructed me, as their chairman, to report the accompanying bill. The committee embrace this opportunity to testify their obligation to our able superintendent of public instruction for many valuable and important suggestions in relation to the details of this bill.

E. BARNARD,

Chairman Committee on Education.

And the House adjourned until Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

MONDAY, January 30, 1843.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Messrs. Lamb and Murray were absent, and Mr. Poppleton on leave.

Mr. Rowland asked for and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Murray until to-morrow.

Mr. Provost for Mr. Lamb the same.

missioner, to reside in the county of St. Joseph. Referred to the committee on the judiciary.

REPORTS.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the committee on enrollment and engrossment, reported the following entitled bills as correctly engrossed :

“A bill in relation to the rooms and office of the secretary of state.”

“A bill to authorize Samuel H. Farnsworth to build and maintain a dam across the north branch of the Menominee river.”

And said bills were read a third time and passed.

Mr. Lothrop, from the committee of internal improvement, to whom was referred the petition of Wray Palmer and others, of Hillsdale county, and Caleb Eastman, James McKee and others of Jackson county, praying for further legislative interposition for the determination of damages occasioned by the construction of the works of internal improvement of this state, have had the same under consideration, have come to the full conclusion that it would not be now expedient, or that the end of justice demand the repeal of the joint resolution of the last legislature, forbidding appeals to be taken from the board of appraisers to the circuit court of the county, but your committee are fully impressed with the belief that if the present law be so amended as to give the board of internal improvement the right to revise the decisions of the board of appraisers, they believe that there would not be one case in a thousand where an individual would obtain less than he would have been willing to have released the right of way to the state, before the work was permanently located, and in all cases, substantial justice will be done in the premises, without the accumulation of unnecessary costs to either party.

For the reasons heretofore set forth, the committee ask leave to introduce a bill entitled "an act for the regulation of internal improvement, passed March 25, 1840."

Mr. Littlejohn, from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the memorial of Hiram Thompson, of the county of Jackson, praying for the passage of an act authorizing him to convey certain real estate, having examined said memorial and the accompanying affidavit, would report that the act sought would in their opinion be one of doubtful validity, and the power to sell, thus conferred, would be very questionable. The court of chancery can readily afford the relief sought, if the equivocal nature of the transaction should not there also defeat the application. The committee therefore report adverse to the prayer of the memorialist and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the matter.

And the committee were discharged accordingly.

And the bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

Mr. Bush called up his resolution to reconsider the vote on the passage of the "bill to authorize the agent of the state of Indiana to discharge the liabilities to this state of the Detroit and Pontiac railroad company," and the same being under consideration, the motion to reconsider was lost on division, 20 to 21.

Yeas—Messrs. Axford, Barnard, Bush, Cady, Wm. Gage, Godfroy, Haggaman, Lothrop, Lee, Livermore, McLeod, Moore, Pratt, Provost, Rice, Rix, Rowland, Snell, Vickery, Waldron, Weld—21.

revised statutes may be repealed. Referred to ~~the~~ committee on the judiciary.

The committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the petition.

And the committee were discharged accordingly.

Mr. Moore, from the select committee on taxation and the interual police of counties, to whom was referred the memorial of H. N. Monson, treasurer of the county of St. Clair, in relation to certain unpaid taxes of said county for the years 1836, 1837, 1838, 1839 and 1840, would respectfully submit the following statement of facts, and the opinion of your committee thereon, to the House :

The memorial avers, that, from certain irregularities of but little moment, and in no wise affecting the rights of individuals, the taxes returned from the county of St. Clair have been rejected by the auditor general and charged back to said county ; wherefore he prays for the passage of an act to collect the taxes on the lands which of right should pay them, notwithstanding the irregularities complained of. No data have been furnished to your committee by which they may judge of the nature or degree of the irregularities adverted to ; nor is the statement of the memorialist substantiated by any testimony or verified by his own affidavit. It further appears, from the report of the auditor general, given in obedience to the requirements of the House, that the taxes returned from said county for the year 1838, and remaining unpaid on the 24th of July last, were rejected for the following reasons :

1st. From the absence of an equalization and comparison of the assessment rolls as required by the statute.

2d. That the action of the commissioners and the delivery of the warrants of collection to the collectors were not within the limitation of the session law of 1839 on that subject.

3d. That the returns required by the same act to be made to the county treasurer on or before the first Monday of August, were not received until the 16th of September, 1839 ; together with other irregularities not specified.

From these facts, your committee are of opinion that any act of a retrospective tendency, legalizing palpable infractions of a positive law, would be in the highest degree oppressive and unjust. They are therefore constrained to report adversely to the prayer of the memorialist, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

And the committee were discharged from the further consideration thereof.

Williams, deputy treasurer for the county of Lapeer. REPORTS.

Mr. Rice from the committee on education, reported back the Senate bill relative to primary schools, which was ordered to be printed

Mr. O'Keefe from the committee on federal relations, made the following report :

The report of the committee on federal relations to whom was referred the memorial of James G. Birney, asking of this legislature "to assert before the nation and the world, that Michigan is not bound by the ordinance of 1787, and of course not by the constitution of the United States, to deliver up fugitives from service and labor who may escape from the "new" slave states, and be found in this state."

Your committee beg leave to report, that they have had the same under full and reiterated considerations, arising from a perfect confidence in the benevolence of motives and philanthropy of purpose, which has prompted the memorialist and imparted the same in very happy and glowing terms to the memorial itself.

But your committee would respectfully state, that they are irresistibly led to the conclusion that it would be an unjustifiable assumption to intrude an opinion upon a subject, the more direct province of judicial action, to whom it must be exclusively referred for ultimate and federal decision, and who would not of course be governed by the volunteer suggestion of a legislature, who had not clothed such opinions with any legal enactment.

Your committee would therefore beg leave to recommend that "the assertion" thus solicited be withheld, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

GEO. A. O'KEEFE,
Chairman Committee Federal Relations.

And the committee were discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Snow from the committee on claims, to whom was referred the claim of Baldwin and Whitney for one locomotive steam engine and for insurance on the same, begged leave to report, that they have had the subject under consideration, have duly investigated the merits of the claim, and from the testimony they have received, they are induced to believe that the claim so far as relates to the insurance on the engines is unjust, and should not be allowed. The committee are informed from respectable sources, that the engines were to be shipped at the risk of the vendors, and not at the risk of the state. The state was to pay the transportation on the engines, but not the insurance ; and lest the state might be considered liable for any loss or damage that might accrue to the engines, whilst they were being transported from Philadelphia to Detroit, the commissioners very properly stipulated with the vendors that the engines should be shipped in their name, so that the state should not be bound to receive the engines, or pay for them, unless they arrived in good order, and for this reason the committee believe the engines were shipped in the name of the vendors, and not for the reason as stated in the memorial. So much of the claim as purports to be for the engine, the committee believe to be just, but as the commissioners are already authorised to pay the demand, and will do so, as early in the spring as they are in possession of the proper kind of funds, the committee are of the opinion that further legislation is unnecessary. The committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

F. S. SNOW,
Chairman.

And the committee were discharged.

Mr. Bush from the committee on banks and incorporations, to whom was referred two Senate bills, one to amend an act entitled an act to amend an act to incorporate the village of Marshall, and for other purposes, approved Feb. 12, 1842, and the other an act to amend an act entitled an act to amend an act entitled an act to incorporate the village of Ypsilanti, have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me as their chairman, to report them back to the House without amendment, and recommend their passage; and the said bills were referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the bill to amend part 1st, title 7th, chapter 6th, of the revised statutes, "relative to the interest of money," having considered the same, would report it back to the House without amendment, and without any recommendation as to the action of the House; and said bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the Senate bill authorizing mortgagees and judgment creditors to redeem real estate sold for taxes and assessments, would report the same to the House and recommend its passage; and the same was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Littlejohn, from the committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred the "bill for the relief of bail of prisoners on the jail limits," with an amendment from the Senate, would report the bill back, recommending a non-concurrence in the amendment; and the same was laid on the table.

Mr. Pratt, pursuant to notice, obtained leave to introduce a "bill to erect a toll gate and for keeping in repair the Detroit and Saginaw road, and for other purposes," and the same was referred to the committee on roads and bridges.

The committee of ways and means to whom was referred the petition of certain contractors on the Southern railroad, asking for some provision for the payment of state warrants, respectfully report that they have fully considered said petition, and the whole subject to which it relates.

In the first place, the committee are of opinion that the provision contained in the internal improvement bill which has just been passed, for the payment of interest on said warrants, is all that can be done by the state this year in favor of said warrants; and,

Secondly—That the payment in land provided for in the bill of the Senate which has passed that body, is all the provision that can be made at present for the redemption of said warrants.

The committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of this subject.

J. GOODWIN, Ch'n.

And the committee were discharged accordingly.

The committee of ways and means to whom was referred the resolution instructing them to inquire into the expediency of reducing the salaries of circuit judges, and raising that of the Attorney General, respectfully report, that in their opinion, such action is not advisable.

The circuit judges spend from forty to fifty weeks a year in the supreme court sessions and the various and laborious circuits which the law requires them to hold. The expenses of living are great; and in travelling to every part of the state, at all seasons of the year, great travelling expenses are unavoidably incurred, and at present they are compelled to receive their pay in a currency not equal to money.

Of all public stations, that of judges should be the most removed from any thing like dependance. They can barely support themselves and families with the pay they receive of the state, and the direct effect of a reduction would be to drive out our best men from these high and responsible stations, and fill them with others less talented and meritorious.

Should any action of the legislature be had increasing the number of judges, and consequently lessening their labors and expenses, a small deduction perhaps could be made, without injury to the public service.

In relation to the Attorney General, it should be borne in mind that he is only partially employed in the service of the state, and that he draws the regular attorney fees in civil cases, when he is successful, the same as other attorneys. His postage is paid by the state, and his travelling expenses annually settled like other charges against the state.

It is therefore considered by the committee that nothing will be gained by the change proposed.

J. GOODWIN,

Ch'n committee ways and means.

And the committee were discharged from the further consideration of the same.

Mr. Lothrop made the following several reports :

The committee of internal improvement, to whom was referred the claim of John Flinn for damages occasioned by the passage of the Central railroad through his land, have had the same under consideration, and ask leave to report :

The petitioner acknowledges in his petition that when the Central railroad was owned by the Detroit and St. Joseph railroad co., the damages occasioned by the construction of the said road, was assessed by a jury, which he received. By receiving the amount assessed to him for damages of said company, the right to construct said road through his lands, became vested in said company. On the surrender by said company, of the Central railroad to the state, all the rights and franchises belonging to the company accrued to the state.

If your committee are right in the premises, the petitioner has not at this time any claim on the state for damages, and therefore report adverse to said claim, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

E. H. LOTHROP, Chairman.

The committee were discharged accordingly.

The committee of internal improvement, to whom was referred the memorial of Isaac Kelly and others, contractors on the Clinton and Kalamazoo canal, have had the same under consideration, and ask leave to report :

On examination they find that there is due Kelly, Leers & co., on two warrants drawn by the Auditor General on the internal improvement fund, dated April 27, 1842, in the sum of one thousand dollars ; also, on one warrant, dated September 9th, 1841, in the sum of $1623 21 ; also, an estimate in the sum of $2639 53, dated November 12th, 1841.

Your committee also find there is due to Isaac Kelley on a warrant dated September 9th, 1841, in the sum of $1315 00, making the whole sum due Kelley, Beers & co. and Isaac Kelley, $6577 79, with interest from the time the several warrants were given.

Your committee now ask to be discharged from the subject, and that the whole subject be referred to the committee of ways and means.

E. H. LOTHROP, Chairman.

Mr. Lathrop submitted the following report :

The committee of internal improvement to whom was referred the petition of James G. Birney, and others, praying that the state would open and construct a road from Tuscola to Portsmouth, have had the same under consideration and beg leave to report :

Your committee acknowledge the principle, that it is the duty of the state to assist in opening and constructing roads through those portions of the state in which lands belonging to the state are located. But as the lands have just been located, and none of them have as yet been sold, and as it is now impossible to determine how roads shall be located so as to benefit the lands of the state, it is in the opinion of your committee premature to make at this time appropriations as contemplated by the petitioners.

Before the session of another legislature the state lands will have been brought into market and some of them probably sold, and it will then be in season to make appropriations, alike beneficial to the purchaser of state lands and to the lands remaining unsold.

prayer of the petitioners and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

E. H. LOTHROP,

Chairman.

And the committee were accordingly discharged.

The memorial of Wm. E. H. LOTHROP,

Chairman.

And the reference was made to the committee on banks and incorporations.

Mr. Snow, from the committee on claims to whom was referred the claim of the assignees of the bank of Michigan, having had the same under consideration, ascertained the following facts in regard to it:

It appears from the testimony that the claim is for money advanced in the fall of eighteen hundred and forty. One thousand dollars of which, was advanced to the commissioners of internal improvement, to enable them to connect the rail road, which the state purchased of J. Q. Adams of Monroe, with the southern rail road, for which the assignees of the bank hold the receipt of R. M. Morrison, then superintendent of the southern rail road. It will be seen by reference to the act passed in 1840, regulating internal improvement, that this money was drawn in contravention of law, and if allowed at all, it must be upon the ground of equity alone.

Fourteen hundred and thirty-three dollars of which, was drawn by E. P. Hastings, Esq. then auditor general, for the purpose of paying the members of the committee, who were appointed to investigate the acts, &c. of the several boards of internal improvement; this sum also, as your committee believe, was drawn without the sanction of law, and if allowed, must be upon the ground of equity also; the committee have instructed me as their chairman to report back the claim, without any recommendation.

F. S. SNOW,

Chairman.

The committee asked to be discharged and that the report be referred to the committee of the whole and placed upon the general order, and the committee were discharged and the reference made.

Mr. Littlejohn, from

The committee on the judiciary, to whom was referred sundry petitions from the citizens of different counties in the state, praying for certain modifications of our present judiciary system, and asking for the appointment of supreme court commissioners, having examined the same, reported that they have embodied the modifications sought in a bill reported to this House for remodeling the judiciary system and therefore asked to be discharged from the further consideration of said petition, and the committee were discharged.

Mr. Littlejohn, from

Mr. Littlejohn, from

The judiciary committee, to whom was referred the Senate bill, "to amend an act entitled an act to repeal the acts consolidated in the revised statutes," having examined the same, and believing it to be the duty of the legislature to enact laws, and of the judiciary to give a construction of the same, and also believing, upon grounds of public policy, that an absolute repeal of a doubtful law, is preferable to any explanatory law, feel constrained to report said bill back to the House with a recommendation that it do not pass, and the bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Snow, from

The committee on claims, to whom was referred the petition of Jane Greenfield asking for relief in consequence of her husband having been instantly killed, while in the employment of the state, and in consequence of this sudden and afflictive bereavement, the petitioner with six small children were left destitute, and without any means of support, beg leave to report that they have had the same under consideration, and they are of opinion that they should be governed in their action by the same principle which governed them in their action in regard to the petition of John Silk, who asked for relief in consequence of injury received upon the southern rail road, to which the committee reported adversely.

The petition sets forth that John Greenfield (the deceased husband of the petitioner) was an engineer, in the employment of the board of internal improvement, at the depot of the central rail road in this city, and that while assisting in unshipping a locomotive engine at the wharf, he was instantly killed; and in consequence of his death, his wife and six helpless children, were left destitute in the world, and without any means of support. It truly is a case which seems to call for sympathy and relief: and the committee as individuals, feel to sympathize with this distressed family; and while they would as individuals feel willing to contribute for their relief, still they do not feel it to be their duty, to recommend that the state should not grant the relief asked; your committee are of opinion that the relief could more properly be granted from other sources.

It affords me pleasure as therein requested to tender his gratitude to the legislature.

JOHN S. BARRY.

HERMITAGE, }
9th February, 1843. }

His Excellency JOHN S. BARRY,

Governor of Michigan :

SIR—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 19th ultimo, enclosing sundry resolutions passed by the legislature of the state of Michigan, instructing their senators and requesting their representatives to use their best efforts to procure the passage of a law refunding to Gen. Andrew Jackson the amount of the fine imposed on him by Judge Hall in 1815, with interest ; and also declaring "that any attempt to insert in such law any provisions calculated or intended to impugn the conduct or motives of General Jackson on the occasion alluded to, or to approve the course pursued by Judge Hall, would be an insult to justice, and a gross misrepresentation of the wishes of the people of the state of Michigan."

These resolutions of the legislature constitute another proof of the fact, that my fellow-citizens are too keenly alive to the feelings of justice, to suffer my character to be injured for the performance of duties necessary to the defence of our country, and as such they deserve and receive my deepest gratitude, which I beg you will tender to the legislature.

For your private approbatory sentiments, receive my grateful acknowledgments.

Respectfully yours,

(Signed)

ANDREW JACKSON.

The same committee, to whom was referred a Senate bill to amend the charter of the city of Detroit, having had the same under consideration, reported the same back to the House without amendment, and recommended its passage.

Mr. Carpenter, from the select committee on amendment to the constitution, to strike out the word white, made a report in detail, which was ordered printed.

Mr. Carpenter then laid the following joint resolution on the table :

A joint resolution in relation to the amendment of the constitution.

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the state of Michigan, That the constitution of the state of Michigan be amended by expunging the word "white" from the second article thereof, and that the secretary of state be required to give three months notice of the same, prior to the next annual election, and that this proposition be referred to the next legislature.

Mr. Bush, from the committee on banks and incorporations, to whom was referred the bill to amend "an act to incorporate the stockholders of the Michigan insurance company of Detroit," approved March 7th, 1834, reported the same back with amendments, which together with the bill, was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Bush, from the committee on banks and incorporations, to whom was referred the bill to incorporate the village of Jackson, having had the same under consideration, reported the same back to the House without amendment, for the action of the same, and the same was referred to the committee of the whole.

Mr. Purdy, from the select committee on the subject, submitted the following report, which was accepted and the committee discharged.:

The special committee to whom was referred the communication of the Hon. Jacob M. Howard, with the accompanying documents, in reply to certain resolutions of instruction passed by this legislature, relative to the fine imposed on Gen. Jackson by Judge Hall, respectfully report :

That, having carefully examined the same, they find it to assume the two following positions :

First, That the Hon. Jacob M. Howard, Representative of the state of Michigan in the congress of the United States, " does not concede to the legislature of this state the right to determine, for him, what may be the sentiment of the people of Michigan, touching any measure which may be agitated in congress."

Secondly, That the request contained in the said resolutions of this legislature, is the individual request of those members of the legislature who voted for the resolutions, and not an expression of the sentiments of the people of Michigan through their representatives ; and consequently, that a compliance or non-compliance, by him, with such request, is a matter simply and exclusively between himself as a member of congress, and such members of this legislature as voted for the resolutions in question.

Entertaining and expressing these views, Mr. Howard regards such resolutions as merely a memorial or prayer of certain individuals, now members of the legislature, asking him to vote for a certain measure now pending in congress.

The committee are clearly of opinion, that while Mr. Howard adheres to such a construction of the resolutions communicated to him, he cannot reasonably expect the legislature of Michigan, as a public body, to hear his reasons for refusing to comply with the request under consideration : under Mr. Howard's construction he responds, not to the legislature as a body, nor to the people of Michigan, through their representatives, but to certain individuals, petitioners to him in his honorable capacity.

Your committee are further of opinion, and aver that the present legislature of Michigan does embody and express the sentiments and feelings of the people of Michigan, upon all general topics not entirely new to them; and particularly that this is the case upon the subject of the fine imposed on Gen. Jackson. And further, that the Hon. representative of this state in congress, in the construction he has put upon your resolutions, has shown that he does not entertain correct views in regard to the first principle of representative government, which is, that the representative should comply with the wishes of those whom he represents: or if he entertains correct sentiments in regard to this point, that he has shown, in his communication, a disposition to depart from such principle.

Believing such to be the correct view of the subject submitted to them, your committee recommend that the communication of Mr. Howard be considered as addressed to the Speaker of this House in his private capacity, and ask to be fully discharged from its further consideration.

ROBERT PURDY, Chairman.

Whilst this report was under consideration, Mr. Waldron moved the printing of the report and communication.

On motion of Mr. Schoolcraft, the report was adopted, and the committee discharged from the consideration thereof.

Mr. Lamb called for the reading of the communication.

Mr. Bush moved to dispense with the reading.

Pending the discussion, Mr. Schoolcraft called Mr. Lamb to order.

Mr. Lamb asked that the point of order be sent up in writing.

Mr. Schoolcraft sent up the following point of order:

"That the gentleman from Lapeer had spoken twice upon the question before the House, which was all that was admissible under the 8th rule."

Mr. Lamb raised the following question of order :

That as he had asked permission of the House to proceed in explanation, and as the House had tacitly granted him this request, the gentleman from Chippewa was not in order, in his point of order.

The chair decided Mr. Lamb out of order.

Mr. Lamb appealed from the decision of the chair.

The house sustained the chair.

The question being then taken by yeas and nays whether the communication should be read, it was decided in the negative :

Yeas—Messrs. Anderson, Andrews, Barnard, Carpenter, Godfroy, Hagaman, Hixon, Lamb, Lee, Livermore, Pratt, Provost, Rice, Snell, Videto, Waldron, Speaker—17.

The question arising on printing, Mr. Littlejohn sent up the following point of order :

"That the motion to print a private paper was not in order."

The Speaker decided that the motion to print was in order, whereupon.

On motion of Mr. Lothrop, the further consideration of the communication was indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Goodwin, from the committee of conference, in relation to the preamble to the 'bill districting the state into congressional districts,' reported that the committee advised that the House do recede from their amendment thereto, and Mr. Bush moved that the House do recede.

Mr. Johnson demanded the previous question, which demand was sustained by the following vote :

man, Howe, Johnson, King, Lacey, Lothrop, Littlejohn, McCamly, Moore, Mottram, Murray, O'Keeffe, Olds, Patterson, Poppleton, Pratt, Purdy, Rix, Rowland, Schoolcraft, Seely, Snell, Snow, Vaughn, Weld, Speaker—37.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE.

SENATE CHAMBER,
Feb. 28, 1843.

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives :

SIR—I am instructed by the Senate to transmit to the House a “bill relative to crimes, and the punishment thereof,” which the Senate have passed, and respectfully ask the concurrence of the House therein.

JAS. E. PLATT,
Sec’y of Senate.

And the said bill was referred to the committee of the whole.

SENATE CHAMBER.)
Thursday, Feb. 25, 1843. }

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives :

SIR—I am instructed by the Senate to return the “bill making appropriations for the improvement of the St. Joseph river,” and to respectfully inform the House that the Senate have non-concurred therein.

JAS. E. PLATT,

Sec’y of Senate.

Mr. Snow submitted the following report :

The committee on claims, to whom was referred the following claims, ask leave to report that they have had the same under consideration for some length of time, and have given the several claimants an opportunity to substantiate their respective claims by testimony, but as the committee are of the opinion that the testimony is insufficient to warrant them in recommending that they be allowed, the committee have therefore instructed me, as their chairman, to report as follows :

In regard to the claim of A. B. Monroe, for loss on post notes, adversely.

In regard to the claim of N. N. Kendal, for articles furnished southern railroad, adversely. This claim may be just to some extent, but the testimony before the committee is so conflicting, the committee feel compelled to report against it.

In regard to the claim of A. E. Hathon, for services as clerk of the committee who were appointed by the House of Representatives in 1840, to investigate the accounts, &c., of the several boards of internal improvement, adversely. The committee do not know by what authority the committee of investigation employed a clerk at the expense of the state, and if they had no authority so to do, the claimant should look to them for his pay, and not to the state.

In regard to the claim of D. Hodges for labor performed on state prison, adversely.

In regard to the claim of Harmon and Cook, for labor performed on state prison, adversely.

In regard to the claim of Solomon Brill, for labor performed on state prison, adversely.

In regard to the claim of N. Ingersoll, for labor performed on state prison, adversely.

In regard to the claim of Edward Morrell, for labor performed on state prison, adversely.

In regard to the claim of Phineas Farrand and Samuel Higby, for labor performed on state prison, adversely.

The committee would here state in regard to the above claims, which purport to be for labor performed on state prison, that the claims are in the shape of promissory notes signed by Benjamin Porter, while he was acting commissioner of the state prison, but the notes are not many of them signed officially, and consequently, the notes do not appear to be evidences of debt against the state, but against Mr. Porter, and the committee are not convinced (by the testimony introduced before them) that the state has had the services for which the claimants contend these notes were given, but should this be admitted, then the committee are not satisfied but that the several claims have been allowed to Mr. Porter in a previous settlement with him.

The committee ask to be discharged from the further consideration of all the claims above mentioned, and move that the claimant have leave to withdraw their papers.

F. S. SNOW, Ch'n.

And the committee were discharged accordingly.

The "bill to organize a land office and to provide for the sale of state lands," coming up for a third reading Mr. Lamb moved to re-commit the bill with instructions to so modify it as to make the auditor general register and the state treasurer receiver of the land office, and to confide the whole business to them.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Speaker announced the following :

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, }
 Detroit, March 7, 1843. }

To the House of Representatives :

I have this day approved, signed and deposited in the office of the secretary of state,

“An act to incorporate the Berrien Bridge company.”

JOHN S. BARRY.

The following communication from the auditor general :

AUDITOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
 Detroit, March 7, 1843. }

To the Hon. Robert McClelland,

Speaker of the House of Representatives:

SIR—I had the honor to receive on the evening of the 6th inst.
 the following resolution adopted by the House of Representatives on the 22d Feb. to wit :

“Resolved, That the auditor general be, and he is hereby requested to transmit to this House a full and accurate statement of all claims for wolf bounties by him rejected, together with his reasons for such rejections.”

To which I reply that the law under which wolf bounties are paid, which may be found on pages 55, 56 and 57, session laws of 1837 and 1838, requires,

First. That the person claiming such bounty shall be an inhabitant of this state or an Indian living within this state.

Second. That the wolf on which bounty is claimed was killed in an organized township.

Third. That "the head thereof with the ears and skin entire thereon" shall be presented to the Justice of the Peace, before whom an affidavit of the facts shall be made, and such further examination had "as the Justice and officer associated with him may require."

Fourth. Section four requires that the officers "shall cut off and burn the ears and scalp of such wolf" and a "certificate of the facts" to be made

When certified copies of the original affidavit and certificates which must be made and forwarded are presented, it is the custom of this office to examine them, and if found deficient in either of the above particulars, to reject them.

If the deficiency is such as can be amended, that is, if the facts set forth in the certificate are insufficient, the papers are returned with objections noted, and the officer advised that if the certificate does not set forth all the facts, as they appeared on the examination, that the same may be altered to correspond with the facts; but that the affidavit cannot be altered or a new one made.

The practice of the office has been uniform, so far as I am informed, and it is based upon that construction of the statute, which presumes that the object of the legislature in requiring certified copies of the affidavit and certificate to be forwarded, with the claim for state bounty, was, to give this department the power of deciding whether the forms of the statute had been complied with. Any other construction would open the treasury to every application that might by possibility be passed upon favorably by the board of supervisors.

The substantive requirements of the statute are simple and appear necessary to prevent fraud or mistake, and an adherence to a strict construction of this act is deemed to be the duty of this department.

“A full and accurate statement” of rejected claims, or of the ground of such rejection cannot be given, for the reason that the claims are returned to the county treasurer with the reasons for rejection endorsed on each, for correction, (if corrections can be made) and no list preserved in this office.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

C. G. HAMMOND,
Auditor General.

And said report was laid on the table.

The Speaker announced the following

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE.

SENATE CHAMBER, }
March 8, 1843. }

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives :

SIR—I am instructed by the Senate to return the “bill authorizing the construction of a wagon road on the line of the northern rail road,” and to respectfully inform the House that the Senate have concurred therein.

JAS. E. PLATT,

And said bill was ordered to be enrolled.

SENATE CHAMBER, }
March 8, 1843. }

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives :

SIR—I am instructed by the Senate to return the “bill to amend sec. 52, of an act to provide for the voluntary dissolution of corporations,” and to respectfully inform the House that the Senate have concurred therein.

JAS. E. PLATT,
Sec’y of Senate.

Said bill was ordered to be enrolled.

Mr. Johnson, from the committee on university, school and state lands, to whom was referred the Senate bill "for the relief of certain settlers on the university lands in the county of Oakland," have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report the same back to the House without any recommendation thereon.

The question involved in the bill, is simply whether the "settlers" named in the bill, were bona fide such when the land in question was selected by the state? Whether the agents of the State did or did not enter the land during the occupancy of the same by the settlers named in the bill?

The committee it is proper to say, have been supplied with very voluminous testimony, showing that the persons named are really occupants of their respective claims when the state agents selected their lands—but the time which your committee have been permitted to devote to the subject, does not enable them to give their sanction to the bill, nor do they feel authorized to report adversely to its passage.

The committee of conference upon the bill to amend the act, entitled an act to establish district courts in the counties of Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw and Jackson, and to repeal the act establishing a district court for the county of Wayne, would report thereon a recommendation to adopt another section to said bill, herewith reported :

Sec. 2 This act shall take effect, and be in force from and after its passage.

The bill to amend the revised statutes and the acts amending the same in relation to the supreme and circuit courts and proceedings therein, having been reported by the committee on the judiciary with amendments, was taken up by the House.

The amendments were severally concurred in, except the amendment relative to jurors' fees.

Mr. Pratt moved to strike out $3.00 and insert $5.00.

The previous question was then demanded and sustained.

Mr. Pratt's amendment was lost, and the question being on the amendment of the committee, it was lost by the following vote :

Yeas—Messrs. Anderson, Andrews, Bush, Goodwin, Hixon, Littlejohn, Livermore, Olds, Poppleton, Pratt, Seely, Snell, Vaughn, Videto, Speaker—15.

Nays—Messrs. Carpenter, J. L. Gage, William Gage, Goodell, Godiroy, Howe, Johnson, Lacey, Lothrop, McCamly, McLeod, Murray, Rice, Rix, Schoolcraft, Smith, Snow, Vickery, Waldron, Weld—20.

All after the enacting clause of the Senate bill was stricken out, and the House bill inserted, and the bill was read a third time and passed.

Mr. Livermore offered the following joint resolution, which was laid on the table :

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the state of Michigan, That the several sums appropriated in section second of an act making appropriation for expenses incurred prior to the first of January, 1842, and made payable out of any moneys appropriated or to be appropriated for the state prison, be made payable out of any moneys in the state treasury to the credit of the general fund, not otherwise appropriated:

The Speaker having resumed the chair, addressed the House as follows :

In presiding over your deliberations, I have pursued strictly the course I marked out for myself at the commencement of the session, and I am gratified to learn that it has met with your approbation. Your duties have been most faithfully discharged, and your attention to business deserves the highest commendation.

Candor compels me to acknowledge my indebtedness to the clerk for his aid, and for the prompt and efficient manner in which he has performed his duty.

Although a great diversity of interests threatened to mar the good feeling that should exist among us, yet I am happy to say, we part friends.

While I rejoice at the prospect of your speedily returning to your homes, yet I deeply regret parting with those to whom I have become so strongly attached.

But the time has arrived when we must separate, and sever the ties that have bound us together—and with the fond hope therefore, that your services may be duly appreciated by your constituents, and with the fervent desire that you may always enjoy prosperity and happiness, I bid you all farewell.

The committees respectfully appointed to wait upon the Governor and the Senate having made their respective reports,

On motion of Mr. Goodwin, the Speaker declared the House as adjourned sine die.
